I heard about the details of this eminent domain idea in San Bernardino. I'm in the real estate industry as an agent and owner of properties. I'm very glad to hear you have significant concern over it. Obviously, such a measure will raise mortgage rates and restrict access to financing in the home market, among many other negative outcomes.

This idea should not only be crushed as a violation of the rights of the note holders (for performing loans!!), but a simple theft of private assets by local government. I hope the feds will identify this as the outrageous thief it is and inform San Bernardino county cities and all others that theft of performing private mortgage assets will simply not be allowed now or ever.

This is an outrage to even CONSIDER such an idea. This activity should be limited to third-world dictatorships. Please, please stop this local abuse of power. Thank you.
