Susan, the DMV has advised me as follows:

DMV is currently receiving very few FTPTT notices each week, probably because cases are not being prosecuted. If a person has a FTPTT suspension pending, cannot find any way to pay the ticket, and calls DMV via the main contact center (803.896.5000), the Driver Records office will extend the time for compliance. Right now they are giving twenty day extensions.

In addition, if a person pays his ticket at a court (many are open), he will receive a compliance that can be taken to a branch office or mailed to DMV. If the county or city provides for online payment of tickets (a great number do), DMV will accept a print of an online receipt as proof.

Dear Ken:

I hope you and your people are healthy and safe.

Attached is a letter that we ask you deliver to Mr. Shwedo as soon as possible.

Sincerely,

Susan
