Re: Request Under Freedom of Information Act Concerning U.S. DOGE Service Access to Sensitive Agency Records Systems

(Expedited Processing & Fee Waiver/Limitation Requested)

To Whom It May Concern:

The American Civil Liberties Union and the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation (together, the “ACLU”)¹ submit this Freedom of Information Act (“FOIA”) request (the “Request”) for records pertaining to access to sensitive agency records by individuals associated with the so-called Department of Government Efficiency (“DOGE”), also known as the United States DOGE Service (“USDS”).

I. Background

On January 20, 2025, President Trump issued an executive order establishing the “Department of Government Efficiency,” renaming the United States Digital Service as the “United States DOGE Service (USDS),” “establish[ing]” USDS in the Executive Office of the President, and establishing a temporary organization, “the U.S. DOGE Service Temporary Organization,” pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 3161. For purposes of this Request, these entities are collectively referred to as “USDS.”

In the weeks since, numerous press reports have discussed individuals affiliated with or representing USDS requesting or gaining access to various federal agency systems of records, data repositories, databases, computer matching programs, and other systems containing sensitive information. This reportedly includes the Treasury Department’s payment system; personnel records of federal employees, contractors, and applicants; federal student loan records; federal benefits payee records; and more. Many of these records are protected by federal laws and regulations, including the Privacy Act, the Health Information Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) and the HIPAA Privacy Rule, the E-Government Act of 2002, including the Federal Information Security Management Act and the Confidential Information Protection and Statistical Efficiency Act, taxpayer privacy laws including 26 U.S.C § 6103, and other provisions. Serious concerns have been raised about whether USDS access to or use of these sensitive records violates these and other federal privacy protections.

Additionally, reports have indicated that individuals associated with USDS have proposed or implemented programs to use artificial intelligence to analyze large volumes of federal government records for purposes including identifying “potential redundancies and budget reductions.”² This raises concerns about whether U.S. government actors are outsourcing important and complex decision-making to black-box AI algorithms, and whether feeding people’s sensitive information to unvetted algorithms further risks compromising Americans’ privacy.

To provide the American public with information about this highly consequential and fast-moving situation, the ACLU seeks the following information through this FOIA request.

II. Requested Records

The ACLU seeks the release of records for the period beginning at noon Eastern Standard Time on January 20, 2025—including but not limited to written communications (including emails, SMS messages, and messages sent on platforms including but not limited to iMessage, Slack, Microsoft Teams, WhatsApp, and Signal) and memoranda—concerning the following:

(1) Any request by persons affiliated with or representing DOGE or USDS for access to any data repository, database, system of records, computer matching program, code base, or other system containing personally identifiable information (PII), personnel records (including records of federal employees, contractors, and applicants), financial data, health data, or other sensitive data, and any response to such request;

(2) Any decision, analysis or discussion about whether access to any data repository, database, system of records, computer matching program, code base, or other system containing personally identifiable information (PII), personnel records, financial data, health data, or other sensitive data by persons affiliated with or representing DOGE or USDS is prohibited or constrained by statute, regulation, or rule. This includes but is not limited to any discussion of protections provided by the Privacy Act; the Health Information Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) and the HIPAA Privacy Rule; the E-Government Act of 2002, including the Federal Information Security Management Act and the Confidential Information Protection and Statistical Efficiency Act; taxpayer privacy laws including 26 U.S.C § 6103; the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA); and census record privacy laws including 13 U.S.C. §§ 9 & 214; and

(3) Any proposed or actual use of artificial intelligence, including but not limited to services, models, or other software applications provided by xAI or

Grok, by or at the direction or request of persons affiliated with or representing DOGE or USDS to analyze agency records or data.

For purposes of this request, “persons affiliated with or representing DOGE or USDS” includes, but is not limited to, (1) any individual employed by or volunteering with DOGE or USDS, including as a Special Government Employee; (2) any Special Government Employee who began work with a federal agency on or after January 20, 2025; (3) any employee hired by a federal agency since Jan. 20, 2025 who previously worked at Tesla, Inc.; X Corp.; Space Exploration Technologies Corporation (SpaceX); The Boring Company (TBC); or X.AI Corp.; or (4) the following named individuals, who have been publicly reported³ as being affiliated with or representing DOGE or USDS:

With respect to the form of production, see 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(3)(B), the ACLU requests that responsive electronic records be provided electronically in their native file format, if possible. Alternatively, the ACLU requests that the records be provided electronically in a text-searchable, static-image format (PDF), in the best image quality in the agency’s possession, and that the records be provided in separate, Bates-stamped files.

III. Application for Expedited Processing

The ACLU requests expedited processing pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E) and the Agency’s regulations. There is a “compelling need” for these records, as defined in the statute, because the information requested is “urgen[tly]” needed by an organization primarily engaged in disseminating information “to inform the public concerning actual or alleged Federal Government activity.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II).

A. The ACLU is an organization primarily engaged in disseminating information in order to inform the public about actual or alleged government activity.

The ACLU is “primarily engaged in disseminating information” within the meaning of the statute and regulations. See id. Obtaining information about government activity, analyzing that information, and widely publishing and disseminating it to the press and public are critical and substantial components of the ACLU’s work and are among its primary activities. See ACLU v. Dep’t of Justice, 321 F. Supp. 2d 24, 29 n.5 (D.D.C. 2004) (finding non-profit public interest group that “gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw material into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience” to be “primarily engaged in disseminating information”).⁴

The ACLU regularly publishes the ACLU magazine that reports on and analyzes civil liberties-related current events. The magazine is disseminated to over 1 million donors. The ACLU also publishes regular updates and alerts via email to 4.8 million subscribers (both ACLU members and non-members). These updates are additionally broadcast to over 6.6 million social media followers. The magazine as well as the email and social-media alerts often include descriptions and analysis of information obtained through FOIA requests.

The ACLU also regularly issues press releases to call attention to documents obtained through FOIA requests, as well as other breaking news,⁵ and ACLU attorneys are interviewed frequently for news stories about documents released through ACLU FOIA requests.⁶

Similarly, the ACLU publishes reports about government conduct and civil liberties issues based on its analysis of information derived from various sources, including information obtained from the government through FOIA requests. This material is broadly circulated to the public and widely available to everyone for no cost or, sometimes, for a small fee. ACLU national projects regularly publish and disseminate reports that include a description and analysis of government documents obtained through FOIA requests.⁷ The ACLU also regularly publishes books, “know your rights” materials, fact sheets, and educational brochures and pamphlets designed to educate the public about civil liberties issues and government policies that implicate civil rights and liberties.

The ACLU publishes a widely read blog where original editorial content reporting on and analyzing civil rights and civil liberties news is posted daily. See <https://www.aclu.org/blog>. The ACLU creates and disseminates original editorial and educational content on civil rights and civil liberties news through multi-media projects, including videos, podcasts, and interactive features. The website addresses civil rights and civil liberties issues in depth, provides features on civil rights and civil liberties issues in the news, and contains many thousands of documents relating to the issues on which the ACLU is focused. The ACLU's website also serves as a clearinghouse for news about ACLU cases, including analysis about case developments and an archive of case-related documents. Through these pages, and with respect to each specific civil liberties issue, the ACLU provides the public with educational material, recent news, analyses of relevant congressional or executive branch action, government documents obtained through FOIA requests, and further in-depth analytic and educational multi-media features.⁸

The ACLU website includes many features on information obtained through the FOIA. For example, the ACLU maintains an online "Torture Database," a compilation of over 100,000 pages of FOIA documents that allows researchers and the public to conduct sophisticated searches of its contents relating to government policies on rendition, detention, and interrogation.⁹ The

ACLU has also published a number of charts and explanatory materials that collect, summarize, and analyze information it has obtained through the FOIA.¹⁰

The ACLU plans to analyze, publish, and disseminate to the public the information gathered through this Request. The records requested are not sought for commercial use and the Requesters plan to disseminate the information disclosed as a result of this Request to the public at no cost.

These records are urgently needed to inform the public about actual or alleged government activity. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II). Specifically, they pertain to whether federal agencies are violating federal laws, regulations, or policies by providing extraordinary access to sensitive information to individuals associated with or representing USDS. USDS activities are the subject of widespread and intense public controversy and media attention, with multiple new breaking news stories published daily, including about USDS access to sensitive information,¹¹ and USDS use of artificial intelligence tools to analyze federal data or records and make decisions.¹² USDS access to sensitive data has also been the subject of multiple lawsuits filed since January 20,¹³ and members of Congress have urgently raised alarms.¹⁴ The records sought relate to a matter of widespread and exceptional public and media interest in the access USDS has to sensitive information.

In spite of the extraordinary public interest in the activities of USDS, USDS and federal agencies have released little information about what access to sensitive data has been granted to individuals associated with USDS, and with what protections, if any. Given the extraordinary interest and the lack of public information, there is an urgent need to inform the public about the access persons affiliated with or representing DOGE or USDS have to sensitive information held by government agencies and the use of AI tools to analyze large repositories of agency records. An extraordinary debate about unprecedented activity within federal agencies is happening now, and accurate public information about agency activities is urgently needed to inform that debate. Expedited processing is therefore appropriate under 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E) and the Agency's implementing regulations.

IV. Application for Waiver or Limitation of Fees

The ACLU requests a waiver of document search, review, and duplication fees on the grounds that disclosure of the requested records is in the public interest and because disclosure is "likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester." 5 U.S.C.

§ 552(a)(4)(A)(iii). The ACLU also requests a waiver of search fees on the grounds that the ACLU qualifies as a “representative of the news media” and the records are not sought for commercial use. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II).

A. The Request is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and is not primarily in the commercial interest of the ACLU.

As discussed above, this Request concerns serious questions surrounding the extraordinary access to sensitive agency records by individuals associated with USDS. Little official information is publicly available regarding this topic, so the records sought are certain to contribute significantly to the public’s understanding.

The ACLU is not filing this Request to further its commercial interest. As described above, any information disclosed by the ACLU as a result of this FOIA Request will be available to the public at no cost. Thus, a fee waiver would fulfill Congress’s legislative intent in amending FOIA. See Judicial Watch, Inc. v. Rossotti, 326 F.3d 1309, 1312 (D.C. Cir. 2003) (“Congress amended FOIA to ensure that it be liberally construed in favor of waivers for noncommercial requesters.” (quotation marks omitted)).

B. The ACLU is a representative of the news media and the records are not sought for commercial use.

The ACLU also requests a waiver of search fees on the grounds that the ACLU qualifies as a “representative of the news media” and the records are not sought for commercial use. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II). The ACLU meets the statutory and regulatory definitions of a “representative of the news media” because it is an “entity that gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw materials into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(III); see also Nat’l Sec. Archive v. Dep’t of Defense, 880 F.2d 1381, 1387 (D.C. Cir. 1989) (finding that an organization that gathers information, exercises editorial discretion in selecting and organizing documents, “devises indices and finding aids,” and “distributes the resulting work to the public” is a “representative of the news media” for purposes of the FOIA); Serv. Women’s Action Network v. Dep’t of Defense, 888 F. Supp. 2d 282 (D. Conn. 2012) (requesters, including ACLU, were representatives of the news media and thus qualified for fee waivers for FOIA requests to the Department of Defense and Department of Veterans Affairs); ACLU of Wash. v. Dep’t of Justice, No. C09–0642RSL, 2011 WL 887731, at *10 (W.D. Wash. Mar. 10, 2011) (finding that the ACLU of Washington is an entity that “gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw materials into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience”); ACLU, 321 F. Supp.

2d at 30 n.5 (finding non-profit public interest group to be “primarily engaged in disseminating information”). The ACLU is therefore a “representative of the news media” for the same reasons it is “primarily engaged in the dissemination of information.”

Furthermore, courts have found other organizations whose mission, function, publishing, and public education activities are similar in kind to the ACLU’s to be “representatives of the news media” as well. See, e.g., Cause of Action v. IRS, 125 F. Supp. 3d 145 (D.C. Cir. 2015); Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr., 241 F. Supp. 2d at 10–15 (finding non-profit public interest group that disseminated an electronic newsletter and published books was a “representative of the news media” for purposes of the FOIA); Nat’l Sec. Archive, 880 F.2d at 1387; Judicial Watch, Inc. v. Dep’t of Justice, 133 F. Supp. 2d 52, 53–54 (D.D.C. 2000) (finding Judicial Watch, self-described as a “public interest law firm,” a news media requester).¹⁵

On account of these factors, fees associated with responding to FOIA requests are regularly waived for the ACLU as a “representative of the news media.”¹⁶ As was true in those instances, the ACLU meets the requirements for a fee waiver here.

¹⁶ The ACLU regularly receives FOIA fee waivers from federal agencies. For example, in June 2018, the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services granted a fee-waiver request regarding a FOIA request for documents relating to the use of social media surveillance. In August 2017, CBP granted a fee-waiver request regarding a FOIA request for records relating to a muster sent by CBP in April 2017. In June 2017, the Department of Defense granted a fee-waiver request regarding a FOIA request for records pertaining to the authorities approved by President Trump in March 2017 which allowed U.S. involvement in Somalia. In June 2017, the Department of Defense, the CIA, and the Office of Inspector General granted fee-waiver requests regarding a FOIA request for records pertaining to U.S. involvement in the torture of detainees in prisons in Yemen, Eritrea, and aboard Yemeni or Emirati naval vessels. In May 2017, CBP granted a fee-waiver request regarding a FOIA request for documents related to electronic device searches at the border. In April 2017, the CIA and the Department of State granted fee-waiver requests in relation to a FOIA request for records related to the legal authority for the use of military force in Syria. In March 2017, the Department of Defense Office of Inspector General, the CIA, and the Department of State granted fee-waiver requests regarding a FOIA request for documents related to the January 29, 2017 raid in al Ghayil, Yemen. In June 2016, the Office of the Director of National Intelligence granted a fee-waiver request regarding a FOIA request related to policies and communications with social media companies’ removal of “extremist” content. In May 2016, the FBI granted a fee-waiver request regarding a FOIA request issued to the Department of Justice for documents related to Countering Violent Extremism Programs.

Pursuant to applicable statutes and regulations, the ACLU expects a determination regarding expedited processing within 10 days. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(ii).

If the Request is denied in whole or in part, the ACLU asks that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions to FOIA. The ACLU expects the release of all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. The ACLU reserves the right to appeal a decision to withhold any information or deny a waiver of fees.
