Where: Microsoft Teams Meeting

Good afternoon. You are invited to attend an informational briefing provided by the National Threat Assessment Center (NTAC) and the National Threat Evaluation and Reporting Program (NTER).

NTAC will provide an overview of their program, services and resources. The National Threat Assessment Center (NTAC) was established as a component of the Secret Service in 1998 to provide research and guidance in direct support of the Secret Service protective mission, and to others with public safety responsibilities. The center's staff is composed of a multidisciplinary team of social science researchers and regional program managers who support and empower our partners in law enforcement, schools, government, and other public and private sector organizations to combat the ever-evolving threat of targeted violence impacting communities across the United States.

NTER will discuss their programs, resources and their Master Trainer program. The National Threat Evaluation and Reporting (NTER) Program empowers our homeland security partners to adapt to new threats and prevent terrorism and targeted violence [1]. The NTER Program advances our partner's ability to identify, investigate, assess, report and share tips and leads linked to emerging homeland security threats, while providing technical assistance, resources, and training associated with best practices in developing and implementing threat analysis related activities associated with the Nationwide Suspicious Activity Reporting (SAR) Initiative (NSI). NTER's Master Trainer Program (MTP) is a train-the-trainer initiative certifying federal, state, local, tribal, and territorial homeland security partners in Behavioral Threat Assessment techniques and best practices. Through a network approach similar to the SAR POC, the MTP is building a cadre of Master Trainers across the country who will teach behavioral threat assessment approaches to partners and how partners can apply those techniques to the vetting and analysis of tips and leads in an attempt to identify and reduce the threat of targeted violence. Master Trainers are equipped to empower homeland security partners in their communities to identify and assess risk and warning signs, and manage potential threats of future, targeted violence regardless of motive.

Hope to see you there!
