I agree that's why I'm not responding to [REDACTED] directly and pushed it off to you folks. However based on his question last week after our discussion with he and [REDACTED] I suspect that NYSIC may not want to get engaged.

I advise you do not engage the states in this issue. This is a policy issue and not a technical one. I will discuss this with Tom when he returns and we will address it with the states.

This could be problematic if NY or FL don't like this answer and decide to opt out of the e-Guardian push feature. They could potentially even have heartburn with FBI access to their shared Space data.
David any thoughts?

Neither the FBI nor DOJ has promulgated an ISE-SAR specific or other policy that meets the ISE Privacy Guidelines requirements, although the Bureau has promulgated a PIA for the e-Guardian system.

Two of the FCs asked me on where the FBI stands on their privacy policy. I believe that the FBI policy has been approved or accepted for the Shared Space. The context has to do with State FCs forwarding SARs from their Shared Space to eGuardian via the NCIRC portal.
