We have one more testing to do and that is the parsing of the data once the email comes through. Can you have some of the reports mailed to that email address and advise with that is going to occur? This will be send to our test environment and will not go live until ever thing has been tested from end to end. I have a deadline date to have everything test and in place by the end of next week. So if this could happen this week this would be great to get all the testing out of the way. Do you think this is possible? I will assure you nothing will be sent live to the fusion centers until you can view the process.

David,

I don't see a problem with emailing directly, but would greatly appreciate seeing a demonstration now that you have the functionality built. This would allow for documentation of the agreement and the service you are providing with our data prior to it going live. I will be out of the office Friday of this week through the 20th of February, but will be in the office on the 21st. Can we set up a time for a demo? Also, what is the official launch date of the service?

Thanks,

Yes, we were pulling them for testing as we built the service, but now that all the services are in place we were hoping whomever post the reports to LEO could email them to a specific address and would eliminate the need for person to actually have to go on LEO and pick up the report. The tech team has developed and automated process that once the list is received by email it will parse out the information and send it to the appropriated fusion center. Here is the email address we would like to use, TSC@ncirc.gov.

Can we do this?

David

Greetings David,

In our past meetings it was my understanding you were going to pull the reports from the Daily Summary Report we post on LEO and use your service against that. As of last check, the reports are current on LEO up until 5 February. Please let me know if you had a different model in mind or if this will no longer fit your needs post development and testing. Also wanted to let you know we will be posting the products to eGuardian soon as well, so perhaps this will assist since it is also tied to the NSAR Initiative (I believe).

Thanks and please let me know what we can do for you.

Regards,

Just wanted to touch base again to let you know we are ready to test the project, but the only thing I need is the daily report. Do you have a few minutes to discuss? Let me know.
