Subject: Good news from Jersey

Hey guys, just got off the phone with [redacted] from the NJ ROIC. I answered some lingering questions they had about getting people access, then talked with him about our two big initiatives (the state systems connection and Guardian→eGuardian push). He was very pleased to hear about both, especially since he, [redacted] from NJ OHSP, and [redacted] met earlier today to discuss where they'll be going with Shared Space and eGuardian. He was very glad to hear that we want to include NJ as one of the first state systems we will connect to. From our conversation, I got his outline of how they'll decide whether to go the Share Space or eGuardian route: they're still going through all the legal work that needs to be done to get the Shared Space server, while at the same time they want to get about a dozen analysts into eGuardian, start finding SARS from their existing system to enter, and they want us to come back to NJ soon to talk with the local PDs and other law enforcement about how to get on board. [redacted] said he'll probably call me back after informing the other folks at OHSP and the ROIC about our initiatives.

Just wanted to pass along the good news...and I'll let you guys know if they need us in West Trenton anytime soon.
