

[redacted]
From: [redacted]
Sent: Wednesday, October 21, 2009 11:45 AM
To: [redacted]
Subject: Fw: FYI

----- Original Message -----

From: [redacted]

To: [redacted]

[redacted]

Cc: [redacted]

Sent: Wed Oct 21 11:31:57 2009

Subject: FYI

b6
b7C

The Louisiana State Analytical & Fusion Exchange (LA-SAFE), in conjunction with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will be hosting an eGuardian training class. This class will be offered on Thursday, November 12, 2009 at 10 a.m. in the Louisiana State Police Headquarters Building room 3000, located at 7919 Independence Blvd, Baton Rouge, LA. We are extending an invitation to our regional partners. This training is scheduled to last approximately two hours. Space is limited, so we are asking that only two representatives' attend from each agency. Please email Sgt. [redacted] to confirm your attendance by COB November 5, 2009. We look forward to seeing you there.

NOTE: Depending on the response, we may have a second class in the afternoon.

Background

eGuardian is designed to provide participating partners with an unclassified suspicious activity reporting (SAR) system accessible via Law Enforcement On-line (LEO). Sharing information within the eGuardian network will eliminate the jurisdictional and bureaucratic impediments that otherwise delay communication and dissemination of information that could potentially affect the nation's security posture.

Since its inception, eGuardian has experienced significant growth in both the number of users and agencies contributing SAR to the system. eGuardian has also become part of the National SAR Initiative and Evaluation Environment.

Lt. [redacted]
[redacted]

SSA [redacted]

FBI/CTD/eGuardian/Guardian

O [redacted]

C [redacted]
[redacted]

b6
b7C

EGuardian-666