Jim,

Can you talk. It's obvious (b) (7)(C) #3 is different than yours. His is the development of the webservice or making the effort to bring the data elements closer together.

I've asked (b) (7)(C) if we can set up a call today to walk through option 3 costs. He is saying it should only cost about $150k as I understand it.

Can you provide an ETA on your response to the estimates? I don't want to send anything back to Dept without hearing from you, but I'm on the hook for something today.

Thanks.

Here is our preliminary thoughts on costs and timeline. Can you let me know your thoughts on this from a technical perspective - agree or disagree, etc.? We intend to reinforce that while option 2 should be done asap, the messaging issue is the place to focus.
