Subject: Feedback from I&A on the Federated Search Tool

David,

I had the opportunity today to sit down with the group of analysts who are currently focusing on SAR reporting within DHS I&A and wanted to share some of their comments related to the Federated Search. I have listed these below in order to importance to the group ("1" being the most important bullet; "a" being the most important sub bullet within the category).

Over all the input from the group was extremely encouraging and they all seem to have examples of SAR being of value to the intel community. They wanted to bring these to my attention because they feel the effort as a whole would have more success if some of the concerns listed above could be prioritized.

As a result of today's meeting I am planning to sit down with this group once a month in order to solicit their feedback and identify successes/lessons learned. I am happy to continue to pass any IT relevant information your way in the event you feel this is useful. I am also putting together a similar email to 6, 7(C) on some potential training insights. Thanks.

V/R,
