Oh, is it evil to kill unbelievers for God? Then what about all those OT heroes who went in and killed people for their Lord? Are they evil too?

No, Balder. What's good in some situations (Yahwists killing heathens) is not good in other situations (heathens killing Yahwists). Curious kind of moral relativism, eh?

Even though Allah identifies himself as the same deity as YHWH...

I can quote to you Christians who plainly write that gays should be hanged. Will you conclude that all Christians think so?

Nor does this Imaam represent the whole Islam nowadays.

Addition: Jews and Christians are not considered as non-believers in traditional Islam. So this Imaam either belonged to some sect, or reflected his own understandings about the matter.

Because it denies the diety of Jesus Christ.

Gal 1:8 But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed.

Gal 1:9 As we said before, so say I now again, If any [man] preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed.

Matthew 25 states that people who feed the hungry and clothe the naked shall be blessed and inherit the kingdom although they may not have known that they were doing this to Jesus.

So why should Muslims not inherit the Kingdom?

ALL the so called 'faiths' of the WORLD are religions of "WORKS"

That is; that they advocate in one way or another that by a mans percieved good works and the avodance of percieved evil works that they are made or are righteous before God and therefore acceptable to Him and by them; if the percived good works outway the percived evil ones then they will go to heaven.

Islam is one of these 'faiths' as such they as all seek to establish thier own righteousness before God and by so doing seek NDT Gods glory but thier own.

and because by the works of the Law NO man is justified then they have to and MUST keep doing those works they think are good so that they might continually justify themselves.

What is more by enforcing thier thinking on others and getting others to do as they they can then glory in those whom they get to conform and which they THINK confirms thier righteousness.

But in truth Let God be true and all the world liar.

There is a righteousness by the LAW and there is a RIGHTOUSNESS that comes by FAITH and which comes NDT by the works of the law.

But the law was NOT given to make us righteous but to CONVICT of sin.

and to show what sin is.

as such they who seek always to be made righteous by the law will ALWAYS bew convicted by the LAW of thier sinfull state. and so the morer they ignore what the law is teaching thewm the more violently will they seek to obey and make others do the same.

But that righteousness that comes NDT by the law DR OF MANS 'good' works is by FAITH IN HIM who WORKED that most excellent work on CALVARY.

Who by so doing FULLFILLED THE LAW and RIGHTDUSNESS.

and so to them that look to HIM and GODS work have by so doing PUT THIER FAITH IN GOD to save and keep them and who by so doing acknowledge thier own sin and GODS righteousness.

But they who seek to establish thier own righteousness never then TRULY acknowledge thier own sinfull state nor acknowledge Gods righteousness.

For by seekign by thier own works these things show that thier faith is NDT in God but in themselves.

Therefore they sin in this also seeing that they neither honour God or do that which is right.

Thus even as CAINE slew ABLE because his deeds were evil so if let will they do also.

As to GODS righteous judgement on the heathem in the OLD TESTAMENT it can be seen that it was LONG FORTOLD that judgement would come upon them.

But they took it not to heart but did that which was evil in GODS sight.

So to when the children of ISREAL did that which was right in thier own eyes but was EVIL in Gods then they were warned judgement would come but they too took nothing to heart and the fear of God was not before thier eyes and so what was promised was fulfilled and by the hands of the ASSYRIANS and MEDES they were judged and put to the sword.

God is the same yesterday and today and forever.

What He was He is and what He is He shall be.

and when they who God used to judge ISREAL lifted up themsleves and gave the glory to thier idols for thier strngth and victory in battle then God judged them aslo.

and they too fell by the sword.

But where as God left a remanent in ISREAL for they were Gods people.
What of BABYLON?

There si coming a time when the BRIDE OF CHRIST will leave this earth and ALL the earth will come under the JUDGEMENT of God.
and that even as CHRIST said Me you will not accept but you will accept another meaning the ANTICHRIST .
ISLAM who makes her boast as to serving the one 'god' will one day bow down to him who has made himself god and of this world.

The flesh lusteth against the Spirit and the Spirit AGAINST THE FLESH.
NO flesh can GLORY In Gods prescence.
and though In my flesh I shall see God yet it Is not in my good works that I will boast but in but HIM who died for me and now sitteth on the right hand of the Father.
and I will not be allowed into the blessing of God and the kingdom because of much that I have done but because of ALL tht HE has done.
For my faith is IN GOD and NOT in my flesh nor in my strenght nor even in my own will.
For I am a child of God not by the will of men,nor the will of the flesh,nor the will of blood but of GOD.
AND he that BELIEVETH ON HIM(CHRIST) to THEM gave He the power to become the sons of God.

The ONLY 'place' where MAN who by NATURE is a SINNER can meet or AGREE or be reconciled to God who by NATURE is HOLY is at the CROSS.
For there man acknowledges his sin and the LAWS DEMANDS and GODS RIGHTOUSNESS.

Thus ISLAM though paying LIPSERVICE in the honouring of the prophets yet in truth neither LISTENS to ALL what they say neither doeth it. and as much as they do not with them they do LESS with HIM of which they ALL SPOKE OF which is the LORD Jesus Christ.
and while rejecting HIM they have already acpted another who spoke not the truth for he speaks contary to what ALL the other prophets spoke. and thus serve a 'god' who is NOT for if compared to ALL what the prophets spoke of and taught by WORD and DEED and POWER and as such is not GOD worthy of the name but something else.

He said this not because he loved the poor but because he carried the bag.

Man looketh on the APEARENCE but God looketh on the heart.

The do these thinsg to establish thier OWN RIGHTOUSNESS.
TRUE Christians do it BECAUSE they ARE MADE RIGHTOUS through HIM WHO DIED and in consequence love God and so thier NEIGHBOUR.

It is when you get CLOSE to God and come to KNOW HIM DO YOU FIND THE TRUTH and are able to recognise the counterfeit.

There IS only ONE God.

The whole question and lack of peace in some is the NATURE ,CHARACTER AND DISPOSITION OF GOD.

Those who do not or are unwilling to get CLOSE ENOUGH to the truth to find and know it will be those who will be deceived by the counterfeit which LOOKS like the real thing but when held up to the light shows itself for what it is.

Those who follow Mohamed who think by so doing have light have in truth great darkness because they THINK IT IS light.

But my suggestion to any or all Muslims is that they say that they honour the prophets of the OLD TESTAMENT.

Then READ and LISTEN to ALL that they spoke! and not JUST those parts which they think justifies them.

and when you do and LET THEIR WORDS SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES with NO WORD ADDED or taken away by their own 'leaders'

THEN you will find how BEGGERLY the teaching is that they have followed. and how UNLIKE GOD who the prophets served is the one they serve.

A CHRISTIAN has nothing to fear from ISLAM for they have nothing that can either undermine the truth nor overcome it.

Yet neither can they look down on a Muslim as if by their own wisdom they have come to a knowledge of the truth!

When it WAS and STILL IS by the GRACE of GOD that they did so and received it.

and were at one time in another measure as blind and dead in their sins as any Muslim is today.

The problem Muslims have and ANY other of the world's 'faiths' have is that BECAUSE what they have they THINK is light but which is in truth great darkness.

When the TRUE light does come and they begin to lose their darkness. Because they think it is light they believe they are losing THE LIGHT! and so hold the more closely to their DARKNESS and reject the light! Oh the wickedness of the devil!

and the BONDAGE OF MAN!

It is ONLY by the MERCY AND GRACE OF GOD by which a man is saved! NOT OF WORKS.

  - 2) when you know the truth the truth makes you free.
  - 3) Men have NO peace and no hope BECAUSE they know not God nor fear Him.
- The "fear of God is the BEGINNING of wisdom"

"It is the fool who says in his heart there is no God"

In all times and in all places by all; MEN have acknowledged or have acted in and on the premis of 'god' It is thir LACK of knowledge of the TRUTH concerning God that lies at the heart of the matter.

- 4) You did not read my post as carefully as you should.

I said TRUE faith IN God comes when your faith is in HIS work.

ALL the worlds religions have thier faith NOT in God but in thier OWN 'good' works.

There is litteralay a WORLD of difference.

When I stand a bus stop and get on it BELIEVING that it will get me from a to b where in do I work?

For I REST inside the BUS while the BUS as it were doeth all the work.

The worlds religions are in truth pushing A bus(if they could) and thinking they WILL REACH THE DESTINATION.

The WORD of God says "we are to REST from all our labours even as God did from His" and the GOOD works I now do; I do not "by the sweat of my brow" but by the power of almighty God. Not thent to establish my own righteousness but to gloryfy God.

There too there is a WORLD of difference.

I read an interesting theory about the nature of religion in my Philosophy of Religion class last week. It encompasses ALL religions (including Christianity and Islam). It is much too detailed to get into right now because I am tired, but the gist is that what we identify as religion is a direct response to a power that is greater than ourselves (real or imagined). For most of the early pagan religions, this power would be the power of the sun or of rivers or some such. For Judeo-Christians, it is God.

What separates Jesus' message from all of the religions of man? This "power" actually came down into human form to our level and told us that His will for our lives is to love one another, despite even religious differences. You could say that God's work has been to up-end all religions (move away from the purpose of man for Him to His purpose for us). We all know that no one has a VERY good idea of the actual practicing of Christianity while many may grasp the essential truth that Jesus taught nonetheless.

I find this view very intriguing, for it kind of solves the problem that Zakath pointed out: "It is true because I say so"

I am not sure how well I agree with it entirely, I have to think about it a bit more.

If any of this tastes bitter in your mouths, remember: Jesus himself was not what any of us would call a practicing Christian, he was very much a practicing Jew.

Just something to consider.

As for Islam, it has very many positive aspects. Denying the deity of Christ is not one of them, certainly. I have wondered how much our understanding of how to practice Christianity would be different if instead of converting Greeks and Romans to Christians in the early Church, Paul and Co. actually converted, say... Chinese or Indians; (Eastern thought and perspective on being Christian instead of Western). How different would it be today?

Your thoughts?

Peace

OO

I believe that the biggest difference between religion and Christianity is that religions teach men what to do to 'try' to reach God. Christ is The Only Bridge between God and men, and God accepts us, just as we are: sinful; into His Presence, because of The Blood of Jesus. Without being born-again, all that you can have is basic understanding of truth (at best). Once someone is born-again, they come into a relationship with Him (The Truth: Jesus). He is The One and Only Way, The One and Only Truth and The One and Only Life.

All men have their own ideas and opinions about God.
But NONE of them either make Him to be what He IS as He IS or change Him. Neither does He conform to man's opinions and thoughts.

Yet MAN is changed by what HE thinks about God.
For if we do NOT think of Him as He IS in truth or act accordingly then we dishonour God.
and it is written that "they who honour Me I will honour" It follows then they that who do not ARE NOT.
Thus a man's 'religion' if it has NO BASIS in the TRUTH and REALITY of God then God cannot, does not, will not "respect the offering" that man gives to God.

Nor can man know God as HE IS. For ONLY GOD knows HIMSELF PERFECTLY.
Thus if man would know God then it is if God WILLS IT AND REVEALS Himself to man that man can do so.
and if God WILLS NOT then MAN will not.
"For by man's wisdom men knew not God"
"For what knoweth the things of man save the spirit that is in man? likewise then what knoweth the things of GOD save the SPIRIT of God"

Thus if we would KNOW God in TRUTH we must be LED by the SPIRIT of God who will "LEAD us into all truth" and when we know the truth the truth shall make us free"

Was 9/11 the fault of Islam? Or was it interaction between U.S. agenda of ruling the world (including spreading their decaying culture in Islamic world) and Islam FUNDAMENTALISTS reaction to it. It's pretty hard English for me (I'm not English speaking person). But I got the impression, that it speaks that we should not consider those who die as martyrs for Allah as dead, but as of people who live in Paradise. Can anybody who is natively English speaking correct me if I'm wrong? So far I didn't saw any hint in this verse to support your claim: "Their Koran doesn't speak of eternal life, except in connection with the killing of 'Infidels.'"

I don't belong to one.

In Exclusively Christian Forum you invited Lighthouse to come to your Church. How do you explain the plain contradiction here?

Jesus doesn't dwell in institutions or buildings, but in people. His Lambs are His Sanctuary.

Jesus doesn't dwell in Churches and Congregations? :shocked:

Institution is not a building. It's institutionalised group of people who have something in common and who do something again and again. If your group (whatever you call it Church, or not) is acting as I described it's an institution. Do you have any problem with the word "institution"? Does it takes Jesus away if your Church happens to be institution?

God defies reason.

Is that the reason why you keep ignoring the simple rules and definitions of human life? Poor you.

BTW, I got good news for you - in Letter of John is written that God has gave us reason (or mind) to understand Him and to abide in Him. Even if there is some things in religion where our reason is too weak to explain, it doesn't mean that we must resist the things that are not opposing God. If I say that Church is institution and that Christianity is religion, it does not take any bit of God away from the essence of those things.

Jesus did not come to establish a religion, but to teach us that it is like anything else in our lives, something that can be helpful, or harmful, and that we should beware of false teachers.

Probably. But there were also people like Paul, Peter, John, James and their disciples who eventually established new religion separated from Judaism.

As I said, religions are designed by men, and cause them to try to reach up to God; Christ came down to earth, and taught that faith in Him is all that The Lord requires for us to fellowship with Him.

So did Allah who came to Mohamed in dream and showed him the way. But your faith forbids you to see it. Your faith tells you to consider ONLY Christianity as non-religion, and Islam as religion.

But I understand you, because I have been in the same level of thinking and faith years ago. While I can read you almost as open book, it's probably very hard for you to understand me and my thinking. When I was like you I didn't understand such people. They were not true believers, because they doubted in things that were fundamental for ME. I thought that they should get saved, or if they are saved they were very poor preachers because they were inspired by religion, and not by Holy Spirit. They were "dry", while I was lead by the Spirit.

Can you see me by the description I gave? I got good news for you: there is NOTHING to be afraid of, I'm totally OK with God and God is OK with my faith in Him (even if it SEEMS to be different than yours) :chuckle:

Was Hiroshima and Nagasaki the fault of Christianity?

Nope. But while I never blamed christianity for this bombing, you blame Islam for attacking U.S. in that tragic day.

Amiel, when did you get this "awakening" that Islam was evil?
So you think they worship an evil God? So does that mean there is more than one God in the world?

And would you say this is good? Would you agree that all Christians should be killed? you must.

Philip Graubart in a 1996 issue of the Jewish Exponent? :

"Baruch Goldstein examined the story of Esther and the biblical passages regarding Amalek and discovered it was permissible to murder 40 Muslims at prayer. And we all know in Judaism's vast corpus of sacred writings, there are a few other texts and ideas that, in the wrong hands, could lead to further atrocities.... Only Jews passionately committed to Jewish texts can fall victim to Judaism's dark side. Only Jews who absolutely revere the Torah as God's word could accept the biblical injunction to slaughter Amalek as a call to arms, or take God's genocidal commandments to Joshua to be currently relevant ... [but] I'm not afraid of passion, I'm terrified of the absence of passion in my own Jewish culture ... On a day to day basis I feel a lot more threatened by apathy than by zealotry. And so do most rabbis." [GRAUBART, p. 5]

Meir Kahane, the founder of the Jewish Defense League, an elected member of the Israeli Knesset, and a man even many Jews concede to have clearly fascist tendencies (Hebrew University professor Ehud Sprinzak calls Kahane's political party, Kach, "quasi-fascist," [SPRINZAK, p. 233] Lesley Hazelton calls Kahane himself "openly fascist") [HAZELETON, L., 1987, p. 19] quotes the following two Old Testament citations to begin one of his books, Our Challenge:

"For thou art a holy people unto the L-rd thy G-d: the L-rd thy G-d hath chosen thee to be a special people unto himself, above all people that are on the face of the earth." [DEUTERONOMY, 7:6]

"Every place wherever the soles of your feet shall tread shall be yours: from the wilderness and Lebanon, from the river, the river Euphrates even unto the uttermost sea shall your coast be. There shall be no man able to stand before you: for the L-rd your G-d shall lay the fear of you and the dread of you upon all the land that ye shall tread upon, as he hath said unto you." [DEUTERONOMY, 11:24:25]

Kahane then uses such religious 'authentication' to claim that "we [Jews] are not simply one more little superfluous nation but the heart and the reason for the world." [KAHANE, p. 173] As an Israeli Knesset member, he even submitted a bill that sought to physically separate Israeli Jews from Gentiles; fellow Knesset member Michael Eitan compared his proposals to "the Nazi's racist Nuremberg Laws." [SPRINZAK, p. 239] In 1987, a Van Leer Institute survey of Israeli youth found that "42 percent said they supported Kahane. Among religious youth, the support shot up to 60 percent." [HAZELETON, L., 1987, p. 132] (Kahane was assassinated by an Arab in New York City in 1990).

The problem of racism in Jewish tradition, says professor Moshe Greenberg, "has its roots in the policy of the Bible and the [Talmudic] sages to separate Israel from the [other] nations; it is full blown in the Kabbalistic denial that the Gentile is in the Image of God and reaches horrific proportions in the genocidal biblical command to wipe out Amalek and the seven nations of Canaan." [GREENBERG, p. 24] One (secular) Jewish apologetic strategy for this is to argue that the genocides recorded in the Old Testament never really happened. But, as Greenberg worries, "A historical critique of the biblical texts [about genocide] indicates ... [that they] belong to the realm of theory rather than to historical reality. This may salve our conscience, but only aggravates the problem -- that, under no pressure of facts, the biblical authors found compatible with their faith a divine command to commit genocide." [GREENBERG, p. 30]

So how should Jews of moral conscience teach this key part of their religious tradition? They should, says Greenberg, tip-toe around it. "When we teach the [genocide] passages in school (and given the pivotal nature of the book of Joshua we cannot avoid teaching them) we must explicitly neutralize them (e.g., by stressing the ancient context, their obsolete motivation, and the annulling precedent set up by the sages) ... It must be made clear to pupils that our general regard for the Bible as a treasure of enduring values does not extend to these passages. The urgency of such a repudiation corresponds to the evidence that the new empowerment of Israel stirs atavistic longings to act out what existed throughout all of Jewish history ... only in the imagination." [GREENBERG, p. 31]

Yes they do.

Who is He? He is the Son of God. Islam does not claim that. They reject His divinity and in doing so deny Him.

2. Did Jesus die on a cross for our sins?
3. Did God raise Jesus from the dead?

An anti christ was one of any of the people who came after Christ, but epitomized His opposite. False prophet, man of lawlessness. There is a deeper root to this concept, but just think of it as the polar opposite of what Christ represents.

I love the slander slam granite gives when anyone gets close to uncovering any truth. "english is your second language"

If english is someone's second language then is that person less of a person granite?

does it make you feel superior?

special?

unique?

all inclusive?

yet exclusive?

chosen?

one of God's chosen?

a person who has english as a second language is what?

a dog?

a rouque?

a muslim?

evil?

less important?

beneath you?

not to be listened to?

unvalued as a human being?

Did you learn that from studying Jesus that you claim to love and cherish with the Christians?

Could you please explain why.....

thinking Jesus was a bastard son of a prostitute is more holy than thinking he was a prophet?

I hate to even type the Jewish thought of him, but if we are going to condemn an entire group of people that think he was holy and the son of a virgin, then we should at least be able to type and see it in writing and here it in speech those you consider to be so holy that you want to link to Christianity.

Just a logical explanation please, no 'canned responses from your jewish links. thanks.

Actually Islam recognizes Mary, whom they call Miriam, as Virginal. They believe in the Annunciation by Gabriel -- the same Angel who appeared to Mohomad -- and the Immaculate Conception and the Virgin Birth.

Protestants have a problem because Islam finds it incomprehensible that the Murder of the Messiah was a positive religious act.

Hey, murder is murder. Islam is already blamed enough for making a virtue out of Killing, but they certainly are not going to be guilty there when it was Jews that did the killing. There, they are glad enough to see the crime as a crime.

As far as the Teachings of Christ go, why is it so essential that Christ be given a Godly Rank. Where exactly is the Evil in seeing Christ as a Great Prophet?

As for Mohomad being the Last and Greatest Prophet... it is an arguably correct assertion. If you define Prophet as a Founder of a Great Religion, then Mohomad WAS the Last Prophet. There have been no Religions since Mohomad (besides that laughable fraud perpetrated by the silly Mormons). As for being the Greatest Prophet -- Islam is still a coherent Religion with over a Billion adherents. Christianity has collapsed. Catholicism -- the only marginally valid Christianity is in the state of defeat. Protestantism is not so much Of Christ as Antichristical -- being the Religion of paul, not Christ.

Indeed, I would propose only one reform for Islam -- that every Muslim be extended the right and privilege of taking the Holy Sacrament. Their appreciating Christ as a Great Prophet is quite sufficient to entitle them to the all the benefits of the True Church. Why require of them a empty flattery unsupportable by any Scripture that was only imposed upon Christian Doctrine by the pressures of a "Holler Then Thou Contest" among the Bishops of the Early Church -- which wasn't finished until they all prodded eachother into believing Christ was superior to God the Father Himself. We should congratulate the Muslims for their levelheadedness in seeing through the provincial Idlcy of these pretentions. If anything, Islam was a True Religion of Reformation, brought about by God to correct the Antichristical and Anti-Monothelstic Trends of Christianity in the Seventh Century. Scourge and Religion all rolled up Into One.

Protestants are caught up in the Prophecy of Revelations which they interpret shallowly and without any imagination for the possibilities that exist within the puzzling oracles that Prophecy always presents. They see Israel as at no time under the influence of the Beast, and so they figure that as long as they always take the side of Israel, they will never be under the influence of The Beast. They adhere to the Evil of Israel out of an old Game Plan strategy for the End Times that they developed hundreds of years ago. The Whole Balfour Declaration Thing was to found an Israel just so this strategy could be put into play.

However, more recent Prophecy sees the Beast as having a strong Zionist Contingent, with the True Israel only rising up later in opposition to the Beastly Component. Now, when you look at the Confusing Mess that is the Revelations of John, I can't see why we could not suppose an Initially conflicted Israel.

Remember, Zionism has only reached its present Fascist Intensity because the extremists assassinated all who were in the Liberal Spectrum of Israeli politics. It is analogous to Nixen becoming President after they killed both Kennedy Brothers. Is it really Democracy anymore when you shoot down all the People's choices and leave them with the Plutocracy's Pick? It's what the Zionists are trying to do in all of Islam right now, especially where they have installed their occupying armies -- they talk "Democracy", but are busy either murdering the people's popular choices or imprisoning them as 'foreign combatants' in order to take away their Civil Rights and ability to run for elected office. Democracy without real choice is not democracy.

OH! I didn't see that.

They argue against Islam because they do not subscribe completely to the Trinity Formula, but then they are tearing down the Crosses from their Churches and erecting in their place Stars of David to show their Zionist Loyalties, when the Jews no more subscribe to Christianity than the Muslims, IN FACT, much much less. Islam AT LEAST regards Christ as a REAL PROPHET FROM GOD. But the Jews still HOLD CHRIST TO BE A CONDEMNED CRIMINAL THAT WAS EXECUTED LAWFULLY AFTER HIS 'FAIR' TRIAL. Zionism takes Protestant Money and Weapons and enjoys it that Protestantism sends Prozy Armies to fight Zionist Fights, but does not pretend that Christianity is anything more than a lie. Indeed, I don't know whether it is still current, but up until a few hundred years ago, the European Jewish Community would teach its children that the Christian Church was the 'Church of Lies'. It is necessary to Jewish Expectation of their Messiah that Jesus was Nobody -- a Fake, a Fraud -- a Trouble Making Farmer who they had the good sense to arrest and Execute in order to maintain law and order.

How does Protestantism reconcile themselves to what must be the obvious contempt of their Partners? Protestantism graciously constructs a Belief that the Jews will see as their Promised Messiah what is actually the Second Coming of Christ --- OOPS! They missed it the First Time and ACCIDENTALLY killed their Messiah, but, HERE, EVERYONE DESERVES A SECOND CHANCE, DON'T THEY!

But in the meantime Protestantism sides with those who think Jesus was a fraud and a criminal, against a People who hold Christ to have been the Greatest Prophet up till Mohamed Himself. It is like you can never overestimate the stupidity of people.

Leo Volont

May 1st, 2004, 07:26 PM

Oh, in regards to supposing that the Jews will receive the Second Coming of Christ with any warmer a Welcome then they gave the First...

Why should they want a Second Coming? They are already the Third Most Powerful Army in the World, behind only the U.S. and China. And The U.S. is EFFECTIVELY acting as their Colony. The American Electoral Systems runs on Jewish Contributions. Not a single Congressman or Senator can be elected to Public Office in America without receiving Zionism's stamp of approval. This will continue as long as Bribery is considered, in America, a protected form of Political Expression.

But while Zionism controls the First and Third Largest Military Establishments in the World, why would it want a Messiah. Would we suppose that the Oligarchs who Control Israel would be any more willing, this time, to step aside for a King, then they were last time. What would be their incentive?

Look at History. Who has ever been willing to accept a King? Well, disenfranchised, divided and defeated peoples have seen a common rallying around a King as a means of establishing a Unity, a Political Power, and an Order that would raise them out of Ruin and Despair. So, it is not Zionism who will be looking for a King. It is their Enemies who will be looking for a King.

Now, who would deserve a Messiah? Look at the Beatitudes. The Messiah will come to the Downtrodden and those who have been dealt with unjustly. Certainly those who control both World Banking and the Strongest Armies of the World are not downtrodden. They are the Exploiters, NOT the Exploited. The Second Coming of Christ will not come to Support the Haves against the Have Nots and help to kick the poor and the oppressed in their Teeth -- though that DOES seem to be Protestantism's assumption.

Protestants LOGIC depends entirely upon NOMINALS. "Israel" calls itself "Israel" and so it IS the Chosen People of God. We call ourselves "Christians" and so Christ will recognize us as HIS People. Their Logic depends on God going along with these NOMINAL ASSIGNMENTS. Do they ever suppose that God might argue back that He destroyed and dispersed Israel -- there is no Israel anymore. Calling yourself "Israel" does not wrench a Blessing from God even against His Will. Or calling yourself a "Christian", after Destroying what had been a Christian Civilization, only to follow the Doctrines of Paul, one of the Pharisees that voted to murder the Christ.

If the Names do not correspond to the Things, then they are lies.

Yes that is what I am saying. The Protestant churches are teaching this "Was Jesus a liar?" "Anyone who states Jesus was a prophet is calling Jesus a liar!" "Anyone who calls Jesus a liar is the anti christ" "Islam calls Jesus a prophet, therefore Islam is the anti Christ" "Islam is evil" "Gird your loins Christian soldiers the end has come!"

They pull the ONLY statement out of the New Testament they can find to prove Islam thinks Jesus is a prophet thus a liar thus the anti christ.

For some reason, Islam doesn't get the blessing of knowing Jesus in the end days they are giving the Jews. They have condemned Islam on earth, they are not allowing Islam the vision of a second coming. No they rally around KILL ISLAM THEY ARE EVIL.

Yet as I asked on another post, who were the Gentiles in Jesus's time? Some Protestants especially in America have this romantic notion that somehow the Americans were walking the streets of Jerusalem, they somehow reappeared in 2004 as the righteous gentiles. They skip the time of the destruction of Jerusalem, who their ancestors were, perhaps Arabs, perhaps Romans? Who were the gentiles then?

Yet you never hear from the pulpit "Was Mary a whore?!" "Was Jesus the bastard son of a prostitute?"

"Whoever states that Jesus was the bastard son of a prostitute is evil." Which is exactly what the books of Judaism state that he was. Protestants feel that calling Jesus a prophet is worse than calling Him the bastard son of a prostitute.

They are BLIND to the fact all these nice little books and little shows coming on television about the historical Jesus is the pave bricks to destroy Jesus' memory and reputation of his mother.

Of course the Christ haters are too smart to do anything other than play by deceit. Should they announce "Mary was a whore" then they would get the Protestants attention and may anger the peasants against them. No they do it subtle, they put documentaries on regarding the "Jesus debates", not revealing that they themselves identify with being Jewish, many have angloized their names enough that the mere peasants watching should not notice. They quietly ask a tiny little question, Who was Jesus? Who really was Jesus? Was Jesus real? Was Mary really a prostitute?

Just asking the question would put a doubt in a young mind, watching television or reading a book.

Then they will argue, well take your kids to church! Watch what they do!

But what would happen if the television would put a question on such as "Did 6 million really die?" "Did the holocaust really happen?" They would bomb the station for asking!

Yet it is okay to debate if Jesus really happened.

With enough of these questions of 'who really was Jesus' and their little seeds of doubts they pave the way that in several more years believing in Jesus will have as much status as a cigarette smoker.

No, Protestants cannot see that the Arabs were the three wise men bringing gifts to the new King of Israel. They believed He was a prophet and brought gifts. They honored Him as they do today. Did God kill the wisemen? No, he thought enough of them to send them a dream and tell them not to go back to land of the Jews, to continue on to their own country. They listening to God, or as they call him "Allah" they went on their way and did not disclose Jesus' location. It was the King of the Jews, Harod that wanted Jesus killed. They blame it on the Romans, just as a psychopath refuses to take any blame for anything, as if the psychopaths of the world united to blame the Romans.

The flaw in that is, why would Jesus come to earth to anger the Romans? What would be the message in that?

Then if we follow through, do the Romans hate Jesus or do the Jews? Today when we go to Rome do we see signs of Jesus? Are these signs less so than in Jerusalem? Where is the cheering of Jesus in Jerusalem? If it were the Romans who hated Jesus enough to kill Him, then how is it that it was the Jews who heckled Mel Gibson?

The Protestants are playing right into their hands, hating the Catholics and the Muslims/Islam and siding with the Christ haters.

That is not honor, that is vile, as is your defense of this false god, Allah. There is no proof that there were three 'wise men,' nor are we given any information as to their nationality. There might have been two or twenty, all we know is that they came from the East and that they brought at least three gifts (perhaps boxes of gold, bags of spices?), we only have a very limited amount of information on them. Thanks again. By the way in case anybody is wondering why I am stalking crytahvn's posts, read this

<http://www.theologyonline.com/forums/showthread.php?s=&threadid=13227&perpage=15&pagenumber=47>

She tried to pass herself off as a Christian, and when I asked her to affirm the most basic Christian beliefs, she tried to ignore me, then made up excuses, then accused me of blasphemy and put me on ignore. The way I see it, there's no profit in discussing other issues with someone who refuses to be open about where they are coming from.

Behavior such as cry's--posting on the net--shouldn't be illegal, even if someone construes it as anti-semitic, offensive, bigoted, or what have you. Price we pay for living in a "free" country, folks.

Violence--whether it's fueled by anti-semitism or some other form of bigotry--of course should be illegal, but Holocaust deniers, Islam fanatics, and Zionists should all have the right to have their say. In other words, every nutcase with two feet and vocal cords should be able to say what they want.

When you start burning crosses, spray-painting churches or synagogues, and blowing things up, well, then you have a problem.

I agree, but I question how much of this the moderators should tolerate. She has gone from being anti-zionist, which is a legitimate issue for debate, to claiming that most Jews are psychopaths. Now this site is obviously less referred than others, and that can be a good thing, but it seems like allowing one to voice unreasoned racist opinions just hurts the image of the site.

granite1010

You don't fly planes into buildings because you have a military to do that for you, they don't kill themselves but only others. Iraq did not fly planes in those buildings but children are getting bombed anyway, or do you consider them so evil they deserve it?

You don't have a clue who masterminded the 9-11 attacks, I know who has benefited from it.

Keep your eye out amiel, watch Israel. Next time Bush pressures Sharon, there will be another attack. You do realize Sharon was to meet with Bush for the signing of a palestine state on the 14th? right? and he canceled his trip.

Just like he put his filthy feet on our soil and told Bush he was getting out of Gaza, then went back and only let his cabinet vote.

There is NO rules, No constitution, No definitions of who is a Jew and that is so they can sliver back and forth and play deceitful games while the rest of the world dies.

Matthew 27:11

Meanwhile Jesus stood before the governor, and the governor asked him, "Are you the king of the Jews?"

"Yes, it is as you say," Jesus replied.

and then the Jews killed Him. So what is your point smaller?

Read what Jesus said about inheritance based on flesh (genes)

He never once condemned all of Islam or all the Middle East, as Amiel is doing.

It is based on actions, judge people by their fruit. Their fruit is their actions. If a person is horrid they do not produce good fruit, if they are good they don't go doing horrid things. Everyone sins once in awhile, they feel bad and ask for repentance. That is not to be confused with people who wake up every day and plot evil against their fellow man be them individuals or in gangs.

That is exactly what organized Jewish racist groups do, they plot, and conspire, with the same spirit the Jews in the bible plot, and conspired. They may not be the same genetic makeup but they are the same type of spirit.

It is by design that the evil ones in the bible were Jewish and Jesus came as a Jew as so no one would be fooled into thinking that just because they are Jews they are perfect.

But that message seemed to have went right over everyone's head and they give a blind eye to anyone's wrong doings that say they are Jews.

In this day and age, it is they who own the media and plotting this evil between the muslims and the christians. It isn't a matter of me being bias, just go look at the names in the bookstores and then look the names up and research, you will find they are Jewish or married to one, or have an Israeli agenda.

That is a fact and until you make some effort to go to the bookstore, write down names from the television or wherever the information is coming from then you cannot deny what I am saying.

Nor can you say look at this it is written by a Christian, because normally that Christian has been taught that Islam is hate. Or people who are born "Jews" convert to Christianity as spies, I call them.

Disney is a fine example. It was a good American company, founded by Walt Disney. Jews bought it and kept the American name. It would take you two years to track the company and its profile and all the shoots and branches from it. Yet Christians complain about "Disney" as if it has legs of its own. Disney owns Miramax the TOP PORN distributor.

Just research Edgar Bronfman, it will lead you to bootlegging and mobsters during ww2, it will lead you to the president of the world Jewish congress, it will lead you to Seagrams booze pushing who btw decided to push the booze commercials back on t.v., it will lead you to Vivendi, the lawsuits against bootlegging music (hypocrites) and then the disney land type tours to Israel, it will lead you to Canada, to New York, offshore tax shelters, French companies, water companies and control. He was the one who wanted to do away with anonymous posting on the Internet, and who knows what he is plotting with the other pharisees against the Gentiles of the world.

He was from Russia to Canada to New York, there are plenty of articles regarding his mobster past and turning money into legit companies, look up the mobster lansky and the money he had when he died that he turned over to Israel.

Read about the "Russian Mafia" the links to Israel and the USA and child porn and sex slave.

If I were to guess who today's King of the Jews were I would say it was Bronfman.

If you want to follow the likes of Bronfman in this culture war rather than Jesus, do so with at least the knowledge of what you are doing and which light you are following.

Also read up on the Holocaust money and Bronfman.

 your racist Jewishness is showing. He did condemn many of the Jewish people, in fact he called many, evil, seeds of satan. Wolf in sheeps clothing, worshiping God with their lips and continue to do evil, tricky, things. He talked of them conspiring.
 I am sure it wasn't an oversite on Jesus' part that he did not mention Islam.

they said the word God what would it be? Who? Israeli's? They would not speak His Name, and to this day, most will only write or type, "G-d," which is out of respect for Him being The Only One Who is Holy. not probably, but what word did they use for the word God. Again, Allah (at least the Allah that Muslims worship) is NOT GOD!!! He is a false god. Are you saying the world is full of Gods? Of course. The drunk has made alcohol his god. The addict worships the cocaine god or the heroine god. You merely worship a religious spirit who has created a false religion which was designed to polarize the world in the end times and bring the armies of the world to the valley of Meggido against Israel and against Christ, The Lord, only to be defeated by His Word, which is a two-edged sword, and will cause all of His enemies to die in an instant. I thought there was just one God. By this type of reasoning, saying that there is only One God, and believing that Mohammed is His Prophet, you have been deceived. Mohammed heard from a demon, and the lies you've been 'brainwashed' with have corrupted your reasoning, as well as your ability to examine Truth, in the light of God's Word. The Lord has placed His Seal upon The Word of God, and what Islam has added to it has caused them to reap what He promised to those who do such things: they will receive the plagues that are written in This Book (The Word of God: The Bible). No, I'm not threatening you, but I promise you that God keeps His Word. What He has said will come to pass. What Mohammed (a false prophet) has said has been proven to be lies and will be proven to be greater lies than what many people have imagined.

Did men do this, or was it The Will of The Lord that He not be killed by Herod? Why would he have enlightened the wise men and had them travel and be on the scene of the nativity? Because there is no light in the heart of 'religious' people, such as yourself, or such as was found in all of Israel. The only people who The Lord revealed His Birth to were those wise men and some shepherds. The Lord did not 'endorse' a nation (besides making Israel the apple of His Eye, which, later, was transferred to us, the Christians, and will one day be transferred back), He is NOT a respecter of persons. He responds to faith. Not blind faith and not faith placed in lies. It is when people believe that He exists, that He rewards them that seek Him with all of their heart and then seek Him with all of their heart that He can be found. Every one that tries to get to The Father by any way (Islam and Mohammed Included) other than by Jesus Christ, The Son of The Living God is a THIEF and a ROBBER. If there God was Satan why did their God warn them in a dream not to return back to the land of Jews? Did I say these men were Muslim? Did The Word of God say so? Islam did not get 'invented' until many centuries after Jesus walked the earth. The liar and the father of liars has you confused. These wise men probably became Christian, since they obviously had enough sense to follow The Spirit of The Lord. Apparently you haven't read the racist Jews Bible and their hitlist. Anti-semitic hogwash, balderdash and lies. There is no Christian and Jews, the world is Jew and non Jew, or have you divided it different? Yes, The Lord has decided to do exactly as you fear, He thinks of all men as equal: as men. We are His Subjects. The dividing lines that you hope to identify, magnify and exploit don't exist. He has destroyed them. There is no male or female, there is no division that Jesus has not bridged with His Blood. He has brought every mountain low and He has exalted every valley. He is The Great Equalizer. All are subject to Him Who Created everything that there is. How is it obvious the Koran is from Hell? A 'newborn' Christian could tell you that. It is your hatred of your fellow men (Christians and Jews especially) that is a tell-tale sign; but reading it, it becomes obvious in about two or three verses where the design came from (hell) and where those who swallow it will end up (hell) and is just another in the long list of failed attempts to imitate and replace God, which is Satan's lifelong dream. Apparently you have not read the Talmud. I haven't. I have read The Word of God: The Bible; and I study, meditate and pray over it to this day. Always will. The Word of God never falls or passes away. That's why it's called: "The Everlasting Gospel," because everything else will pass away, but Jesus' Words (The entire Bible) will never pass away. You don't fly planes into buildings because you have a military to do that for you, they don't kill themselves but only others. No, they don't do so, they will use missiles or bombs to attack the enemy when they are hiding in a civilian-occupied building only when absolutely necessary, and that is very, very rarely, indeed; you see, we have something in the US that you don't seem to understand, which is called accountability and due process of law. Those who would destroy innocent lives by attacking civilian targets are not only making fools of themselves, but they are making Hitler look like a Girl Scout. Iraq did not fly planes in those buildings but children are getting bombed anyway, or do you consider them so evil they deserve it? If our troops were being attacked on our home soil, they would not use loathsome tactics such as hiding in civilians' homes (until they were evacuated) unless absolutely necessary. This type of tactic is common to those who think of themselves as more important than others, which is almost exactly like what Hitler's troops did. Also, US forces would never occupy a hospital, to be used as a staging ground for ambushes. The only thing they would do would be to make the hospital secure, but would never base their troops there or set up any artillery in one. That, also, is loathsome, and is common to those who don't hold any honor or respect for the lives of others. It is not only un-civilized, it is deplorable. You don't have a clue who masterminded the 9-11 attacks, I know who has benefited from it. Right, your father, the devil. Keep your eye out amiel, watch Israel. I pray for them, every single time I pray. Next time Bush pressures Sharon, there will be another attack. One day this is going to lead to the father of all battles, in Meggido, which is also called The Battle of Armageddon. Don't you know anything about the future? Read the last two chapters of The Book of Revelation. We win. You need to quit the losing team and join Jesus, since He is The Only Winner. We are merely inheritors of His Victory. Saudi doesn't need Israel, but if Israel thinks it is the 'light of the world' and the "chosen" it doesn't do well they live in the smallest depleted country in the world now does it? God will bless Israel, as He always has, and He will bless them that bless her and curse them that curse her. You have condemned yourself, with your own words; as well as revealed your deep hatred. Get a clue.

Not giving head to Jewish faibles, and commandments of men that turn from the truth
They profess they know God but in their works deny him being abominable and disobedient and unto every good work reprobate Prior to that he called them liars, evil beasts, slow bellies.

wonder what you would do if he had said Islam you would be plastering the world with those statements.

you obvious are blind to what the racist Jewish communist did before Hitler. They made Hitler look like little bo peep.

You are blind because you don't bother to read anything that isn't put in front of you.

obviously you missed the recent pictures of our troops and them masturbating on the Iraqi prisoners.

Probably from the directions of the two Jews in the Military.

They HATE Iraqis and want them dead, hence the war, but there are plenty of chumps like you that fall for their propaganda and urge the killing of others based on their GENETICS.

THEY TORTURE CHILDREN IN PALESTINE you bloomin idiot.

Jew wolfowitz even presented torture to the American public.

Your Nazism and racism are astounding. The Israelis are the most compassionate and forgiving race on this earth. If the American Indians acted the way the Palestinians do, we'd have nuked them into extinction a long, long time ago. You, obviously, have a very large blind spot and an enormous chip on your shoulder.

Once again, Allah is not God. He is a false god, who can neither hear or speak. Our God not only hears, but He speaks to everyone, "Come, let us reason together." You don't have to keep ignoring Him, simply because that is what you were taught by your fathers. You need to be saved. You need to believe that Jesus, The Only you didn't address the communist racist Jews that killed all those Christians, they go to Israel and are all of a sudden "the most compassionate" people on earth? are you crazy?

You are a blind sheep.

You need to read more.

Did you read anything that I said?

No you just keep parroting what you think you know. All you know you learned from the devil.

Aliah is the word for God and you better start coming up with better reasons than what you have when you are banging on the pearly gates to explain otherwise.

You can ignore my questions and what I ask you but you won't be able to just slip by when God is asking them.

You support the devil, go then and do his dirty work by condemning others and believing in the devil.

Christianity (Bible)

"In Lystra there sat a man crippled in his feet, who was lame from birth and had never walked. He listen to Paul as he was speaking. Paul looked directly at him, saw that he had faith to be healed and called out, "Stand up on your feet!" at that, the man jumped up and began to walk. When the crowd saw what Paul had done, they shouted in the Lycaonian language, "The gods have come down to us in human form!" Barnabas they called Zeus, and Paul they called Hermes because he was the chief speaker."

Acts 14:8-12 Islam (Quran)

"They take their priests and their anchorites to be their lords in derogation of Allah, and (they take as their Lord) Christ the son of Mary; yet they were commanded to worship but One God (Allah): there is no god but He. Praise and glory to Him: (far is He) from having the partners they associate (with Him)."

Quran 9:31

Worshipping Angels

"Do not let anyone who delights in false humility and the worship of angels disqualify you for the prize."
Colossians 2:18 "Nor would he instruct you to take angels and prophets for Lords and Patrons. What! would he bid you to unbelief after you have bowed your will (to Allah in Islam)?"

Quran 3:80

"One Day He will gather them all together, and say to the angels, "Was it you that these men used to worship?"

Quran 34:40

Worshipping Other Gods

"So Jacob said to his household and to all who were with him, "Get rid of the foreign gods you have with you, and purify yourselves and change your clothes."

Genesis 35:2 "Were you witnesses when Death appeared before Jacob? Behold, he said to his sons: "What will you worship after me?" They said: "We shall worship your God (Allah) and the God (Allah) of your fathers, - of Abraham, Isma'il (Ishmael), and Isaac, - the One (True) God (Allah): to Him we bow (in Islam)."
Quran 2:133

Foreign gods

(One of the Commandments) "You shall not have no other gods before me."

Exodus 20:3

"Serve Allah (God), and join not any partners with Him"...

Quran 4:36

Unique

"Remember the former things, those of long ago;

I am God, and there is no other;

I am God, and there is none like me."

Isaiah 46:9

..."there is nothing whatever like unto Him, and He is the One that hears and sees (all things)."

Quran 42:11

No Part from Him

"I am the Lord, and there is no other;

apart from me there is no God."

Isaiah 45:5 "Say: He is Allah, the One and Only...He begets not, nor is He begotten"...

Quran 112:1-3

He is Present Everywhere

"Where can I go from your Spirit: Where can I flee from your presence?

If I go up to the heavens, you are there; if I settle on the far side of the sea, even there your hand will guide me, your right hand will hold me fast.

If I say, "Surely the darkness will hide me and the light become night around me," even the darkness will not be dark to you; the night will shine like the day for darkness is as light to you."

Psalms 139:7-12

"Don't you see that Allah (God) knows (all) that is in the between three, but He makes the fourth among them, - nor between five but He makes the sixth, -nor between fewer nor more, but He is in their midst, wheresoever they be; in the end He will tell them the truth of their conduct, on the Day of Judgment. For Allah has full knowledge of all things."

Quran 58:7

God is the Supreme King

"The Lord brings death and makes alive; he brings down to the grave and raises up.

The Lord sends poverty and wealth; he humbles and he exalts. He raises the poor from the dust and lifts the needy from the ash heap; he seats them with princes and has them inherit a throne of honor.

For the foundations of the earth are the Lord's; upon them he has set the world."

1 Samuel 2:6-8

"It is Allah (God) that gives (you) Want or Plenty, and to Him shall be your return."

Quran 2:245

..."Abraham said: "My Lord is He Who gives life and death"...

Quran 2:258

God Knows All Things

"And even the very hairs of your head are all numbered."

Matthew 10:30

"He determines the number of the stars and calls them each by name. Great is our Lord and mighty in power his understanding has no limit."

Psalms 147:4-5

..."and his understanding no one can fathom."

Isaiah 40:28

"Not one of the beings in the heavens and the earth but must come to (Allah) Most Gracious as a servant. He takes an account of them (all), and has numbered them (all) exactly."

Quran 19:94

"Say: "Whether you hide what is in your hearts or reveal it, Allah knows it all: He knows what is in the heavens, and what is on earth. And Allah has power over all things."

Quran 3:29

God does not Slumber or Sleep

"He(God) will not let your foot slip- he who watches over you will not slumber; indeed, he who watches over Israel will neither slumber nor sleep."

Psalms 121:3-4

"Allah! There is no god but He, -the Living, the Self-subsisting, Eternal. No slumber can seize Him nor sleep. His are all things in the heavens and on earth. Who is there can intercede in His presence except as He permitteth? He knoweth what (appeareth to His creatures as) before or after or behind them. Nor shall they compass aught of His knowledge except as He willeth. His Throne doth extend over the heavens and the earth, and He feeleth no fatigue in guarding and preserving them for He is the Most High, the Supreme (in glory)."

Quran 2:255

God is Just

"The fear of the Lord is pure, enduring forever."

The ordinances of the Lord are sure and altogether righteous."

Psalms 19:9

"There is no god but He: that is the witness of Allah, His angels, and those endued with knowledge, standing firm on justice. There is no god but He, the Exalted in Power, the Wise."

Quran 3:18

no granite, the topic was Islam and Judaism and I was asking about the evils of Judaism and ANY time someone shines a light on Racist Jews you push ahead and take the light and try to put it on Christianity or Islam.

MOSSAD AGENTS INVOLVED IN IRAQ PRISON ABUSE

More on evil

author: Mauricio Dolce

Mossad agents are behind the Iraq prison scandale

General Taguba's report about the Iraq prison abuse, strongly implicate John Israel, Steven Stephanowicz and Adel L. Nakhla; describes them as interrogators contract employees for Titan and CACI corporation.

Both Corporation has indicated that these individuals work for a sub contractor that they refused to name, the truth is that John Israel, Steven Stephanowicz and Adel L. Nakhla works for the Mossad, Arabic speakers and has been sent to train CIA, DIA and MI in interrogation techniques already used in Palestinians.

What has not been reported yet is that women and minors has been sodomized, pictures and video tapes has been withheld by the media to avoid further emparassing the Army.

Wether to by your LIPS acknowledge and 'honour' CHRIST but DO NOT His teaching. or reject Him utterly.

Is not BOTH WRONG?

Yet in truth there is MORE HOPE for them who reject Him utterly than with those who DO NOT what He says but give LIP SERVICE to His name.

For with the jews they can be converted but to the muslim(in this context) they cannot seeign that they THINK they have light.

As to the 'measuring ' of evil?

what folly and foolishness!

does a small measure of evil Justify ANYONE!?

SIN wether it weights LIGHT on a person or heavy will STILL produce the SAME result .....DEATH.

FOR 'the soul that sinneth shall die'!

and JESUS speaking FIRST to the jews said "unless ye repent ye shall all likewise perish"

If then they who say they honour Him and justifythemselves by so doing DO NOT as HE COMMANDED Is it thought that they will escape the SAME CONDEMNATION as they who rejected Him?

perhaps the greater condemnation si to them .

For the harshest words JESUS gave was to the hypocrites!

Therefore with ISLAM and those who folow its teaching they are in SERIOS problem with God.

For they think they have 'LIGHT' yet in truth thier light is darkness and so |"how great is thier darkness"

For though they SAY they honour the prophets of God yet they do not do what they say.

and they boast in JESUS WORDS when He spoke of the first and second commandment as being the greatest yet leave out that which was said first "how can I inherit eternal life"?

Yet in thier self justification IGNORE and are BLIND to what He then replied "one thing ye lack" give all your riches to the poor and "FOLLOW ME" and therefore show that they DO NOT DO what He says, and so IN TRUTH do NOT honour Him.

Thus there is NO eternal life UNLESS YOU "TAKE UP YOUR CROSS and folow Me"

They who then DENY the cross ARE NEITHER "RECONCILED TO GOD" or have thier sins forgiven.

For theyhave not repented from going thier own way.

They have just chosen another way which is NOT GODS WAY.

For JESUS said "I am the way the truth and the life"

NO man COMETH UNTO THE FATHER but BY ME"

Therefore the condemnation WILL BE THE GREATER seign that they LEAD MEN AWAY from the living God by the teachings of a false prophet.
 Seeing that in ALL things he spoke contrary to ALL the other prophets.
 and in those things that LOOK like he speaks the same.
 YET by those other things that he speaks of which lead men AWAY from God it is clear then he speaks NOT OF GOD at all but some 'other god' to which he sought to bend men's will to. and they who follow him still do.

you got it all wrong there Gerald Duk

Jesus went to the Jews to perform the miracles, they saw with their eyes rather than just to have faith. He went to them because they were the worse of the human race, the most stubborn, and the meanest self-centered most evil people on earth.

There answer? "Crucify Him"

They hated him, they hate him today, not only do they not want to worship him they don't want anyone else to.

That is the big difference.

Not only that they hate God. The racist Jews who are hogs, and self-centered that own the media, that own the newspapers, that push the porn, that believe they are holy than thou, that hate the goyim, that hate Christ, that believe in getting money from the goyim rather than working for it, that need to be first at everything, need to toot their horns, to be first, to be the greatest, to be the only, to be the best, they don't even follow the commandments God gave them, they don't even follow Judaism rather than pick and choose what they want from it.

You can hear them every day if you keep your ears open. Next time you hear "the best", or some Nobel Prize or some sort of award, it will be a Jew. They invent awards to give each other.

They need it. Just like the WTC memorial, it was all Jew judges even though they said it was a diverse crowd, then they pick a Jew to design the ugly memorial (that they blew up themselves and then collected the money for it) the guy was Berlin they pass him off as an American although he trips back and forth from Berlin to Israel. They are scam artists, operate in the dark, they lie to the public, they rip the public off and laugh about it.

The memorial is a good example, the ugly German hating creepy racist Jew said he built the "tallest" building, but if you look at it, it isn't tall, it has a tall pipe antenna looking thing, because of some Jewish rule they can't make the tallest building or something like that, it was too boring to read about it. They sneak hidden Jewish designs in our buildings and think it is funny, they sneak Jewish designs in our church windows and think it is hilarious to be sneaky and deceitful.

They sue this country constantly, they are racist goyim haters, they spend all our money they steal from us trying to do away with Christianity, suing small towns to get rid of crosses WHICH THEY HATE, BECAUSE THEY HATE JESUS and don't want anyone else to like him either. They sue the towns and the towns cannot afford to fight them back, they are Christ haters, they came from the Soviet Union thinking they were going to rule the world from Russia, it didn't happen. So they all went to Israel. If it is not the end days, then God is going to wait for more hateful Christ haters to go to Israel then he is going to cause a huge earthquake and kill them all. No one will care. :D They have tried to rebuild the temple before, it gets destroyed every time.

Jesus was serious, they will be exiled until they quit hating him, they hate being exiled because they think they are so great but yet they are vagabonds without a country and they won't do what they were told, to live in other people's lands with peace, they try to take over and dominate, they don't learn, that is why the nationalists in the countries start to hate them, and they get tossed out by the seat of their pants.

It happens over and over. They call it pogroms but it is called people get tired of their bull.

The Muslims honor Jesus and do not sue us and throw a fit and cause us any trouble, they do not have power in the USA they don't force a nasty culture on us like the jewish racists that don't follow tora do.

Check it for yourself, find out the truth, read the New Testament it is all in there.

I believe that all of Islam wants to see 'infidels' eradicated, and that their thinking is: "One day, we will rule this earth," just like Hitler and his followers thought. Islam is a false religion which worships a false god, and that is a fact. Islam is a cult, and that is a fact. The US Military will prosecute each and every criminal who took part in any mis-treatment of POW's and Combatants. Will Islam ever be 10% as forthcoming, and even issue a single reprimand of those who commit terrorist acts in the name of their god? I think not. They are too busy applauding them, firing weapons into the air and dancing in the streets to do so.

You cannot have any REAL faith in God unless your faith is 'resting' on the REALITY of the unseen God.

and albeit those who DID see Him with their eyes nevertheless not ALL believed on Him.

and even when men say him raise the dead while some believed others it is written "were filled with madness"

So allways faith is at work "for without faith it is impossible to please God" and the thief on the cross alongside him albeit ALL he could see with his eyes was a man whose face "was unrecognisable as a mans! being so beaten up.

and "whose beard was plucked from his face" and whose back "was a s aploughed field" with the stripes He had received nevertheless by the Lords words and actions while on the cross RECOGNISED that which was NOT VISIBLE that He in truth was LORD and was about to enter into His kingdom.

as too did the roman centurian who was in charge of the crucifixion.

Who no doubt had seen and been responsible for many crucifixions and many deaths by it nevertheless when he saw the Lords was moved to confess "surely this was the SON OF GOD"

MANY think of Him as a good man some go as far as to say he was a prophet of God.

But GOD declares Him to be HIS SON and proved it by RAISING HIM FROM THE DEAD. and all who with an honest heart before GOD and who have been willing to be taught by the LAW of God have come to the same conclusion and in truth have found Him to be the WORD that was in the beginning and "the WORD WAS GOD"

What makes Islam evil is their persecution of Israel and Christ, not their screwed up theosophical priorities. No, they called Him worse than that, and will, one day, repent, as a nation.

That doesn't even make sense. Judaism persecute Christians and Islam.

Why would they repent as a nation anymore than Islam?

you dont even make sense, and you include evil people calling themselves Jews as one big nation?

If they are a nation, then politically speaking they should leave other countries.

Cry, historically Islam has persecuted Christianity and you know it (or maybe not; giving you the benefit of the doubt). None of the "big three" have clean hands.

Islam is a false religion which worships a false god, and that is a fact. Islam is a cult, and that is a fact. The US Military will prosecute each and every criminal who took part in any mis-treatment of POW's and Combatants. Will Islam ever be 10% as forthcoming, and even issue a single reprimand of those who commit terrorist acts in the name of their god? I think not. They are too busy applauding them, firing weapons into the air and dancing in the streets to do so.

when did you start thinking this way?

Jewish religion says they will rule the earth, have you noticed who is ruling the earth?

not Islam,

you seem to get all your information from television. which is jewish owned.

No Israel does not defend itself it is killing palestinians to make a land for itself and it is using the usa to fight

Iran Iraq and Syria so it can conquer the Middle East. That is taking over the world, where do you see Islam taking over the world.

Israel persecutes Christians all the time, for one, see ACLU, and go from there.

Also they burned the New Testament in Israel. Are you under the Impression Jews like Christians?

So you mean to tell me everyone who calls themselves a Jew today is holy and will repent? until then we should ignore all their evil?

first you say they are all innocent

then you say they will repent which is it?

No Americans are one nation, they are home.

You went from jews are a religion to comparing them to race.

Is this your judea christian link amiel?

CHICAGO, Illinois: The head of the American defense contracting firm implicated in the torture of Iraqis at Abu Ghraib prison has close ties to Israel and visited an Israeli "anti-terror" training camp in the occupied West Bank earlier this year.

Jack London, chairman, president and CEO of CACI International Incorporated, traveled to Israel in January this year as part of a high-level delegation of US Congressmen, defense contractors and pro-Israel lobbyists, sponsored and paid for in part by the Jerusalem Fund of Aish HaTorah, a pro-Israel lobbying and fundraising group, and Greenberg Traurig, LLP, a prominent Washington law and lobby firm.

The purpose of the visit, according to a CACI press release, was "to promote opportunities for strategic partnerships and joint ventures between US and Israeli defense and homeland security companies."

As one of the highlights of the visit, London was presented with the Albert Einstein Technology Award by Israeli Defense Minister Shaul Mofaz at a gala dinner at Jerusalem city hall, for "achievements in the field of defense and national security."

Delegates also spent several hours in the occupied Syrian Golan Heights with Housing and Construction Minister Effie Eitam, a former Israeli general, who is notorious for his view that Israel should "transfer" - that is, expel - all the Palestinians.

According to the official itinerary for the Jan. 11-17 Defense Aerospace Homeland Security Mission, obtained from the Jerusalem Fund of Aish HaTorah, London's trip included a visit to Beit Horon, "the central training camp for the anti-terrorist forces of the Israeli police and the border police," in the occupied West Bank. The visitors were also "briefed by top experts," and were able to "witness exercises related to anti-terror warfare."

Two CACI employees, Steven Stephanowicz and John Israel, were named in the leaked report by US Major General Antonio M. Taguba on the abuses at Abu Ghraib prison. Taguba wrote that Stephanowicz, a "contract US civilian interrogator," "allowed and/or instructed MPs (military police), who were not trained in interrogation techniques, to facilitate interrogations by 'setting conditions' which were neither authorized or in accordance with applicable regulations/policy. He clearly knew his instructions equated to physical abuse."

John Israel, an interpreter, did not have the appropriate security clearance, according to Taguba.

Although Taguba recommended that Stephanowicz be terminated and his security clearance revoked, a May 5 statement from CACI confirmed, "at present, all CACI employees continue to work on site providing the contracted for services to our clients in that location." It added: "We have not received any information to stop any of our work, to terminate or suspend any of our employees."

Although no evidence has emerged directly linking CACI's involvement in the Abu Ghraib atrocities to Israel, it has long been known that the US military has been interested in "learning" from Israel's experience attempting to suppress the Palestinian uprising. In March 2003, for example, the AP reported that the "the (US) military has been listening closely to Israeli experts and picking up tips from years of Israeli Army operations in Palestinian areas and Lebanese towns."

This cooperation has included briefings of US personnel by Israeli officers, and, according to AP, "In January and February (2003), Israeli and American troops trained together in southern Israel's Negev Desert ... Israel has also hosted senior law enforcement officials from the United States for a seminar on counterterrorism."

Meanwhile, more evidence has emerged undermining the US thesis that the abuses at Abu Ghraib was the work of a "few bad apples." The Guardian reported that the "sexual humiliation of Iraqi prisoners at Abu Ghraib prison was not an invention of maverick guards, but part of a system of ill-treatment and degradation used by special forces soldiers that is now being disseminated among ordinary troops and contractors."

This system, known to insiders as "R2I," short for resistance to interrogation, also includes such methods as "hooding, sleep deprivation, time disorientation and depriving prisoners not only of dignity, but of fundamental human needs, such as warmth, water and food." These are all techniques long employed by Israel.

The visit of the US delegation that included the CACI head exposes a rarefied web of influence sharing in which US government officials and congressmen, defense contractors and lobbyists parcel out huge contracts, and siphon significant portions off to Israel.

As Batya Feldman of Israel's Globes financial news service put it, the visit provided Israeli companies with "an excellent opportunity to encounter big bucks in homeland security."

To help Israeli companies pry some of these "big bucks" loose, the visit included seminars for Israeli companies given by US pro-Israel lobbyists called "How to Approach the Homeland Security Department," and "How to Sell to the US Defense Department."

Israeli participants would have had a chance to test the helpful tips, since present on the trip were Assistant Secretary for Homeland Security Robert Liscouski and many leading US legislators, including top members of the US House and Senate Armed Services Committees, which jointly oversee tens of billions of dollars in military spending.

The Israeli Torture Template
Rape, Feces and Urine-Dipped Cloth Sacks
By WAYNE MADSEN

With mounting evidence that a shadowy group of former Israeli Defense Force and General Security Service (Shin Bet) Arabic-speaking interrogators were hired by the Pentagon under a classified "carve out" sub-contract to brutally interrogate Iraqi prisoners at Baghdad's Abu Ghraib prison, one only needs to examine the record of abuse of Palestinian and Lebanese prisoners in Israel to understand what Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld meant, when referring to new, yet to be released photos and videos, he said, "if these images are released to the public, obviously its going to make matters worse."

According to a political appointee within the Bush administration and U.S. intelligence sources, the interrogators at Abu Ghraib included a number of Arabic-speaking Israelis who also helped U.S. interrogators develop the "R2I" (Resistance to Interrogation) techniques. Many of the torture methods were developed by the Israelis over many years of interrogating Arab prisoners on the occupied West Bank and in Israel itself.

Clues about worse photos and videos of abuse may be found in Israeli files about similar abuse of Palestinian and other Arab prisoners. In March 2000, a lawyer for a Lebanese prisoner kidnapped in 1994 by the Israelis in Lebanon claimed that his client had been subjected to torture, including rape. The type of compensation offered by Rumsfeld in his testimony has its roots in cases of Israeli torture of Arabs. In the case of the Lebanese man, said to have been raped by his Israeli captors, his lawyer demanded compensation of $1.47 million. The Public Committee Against Torture in Israel documented the types of torture meted out on Arab prisoners. Many of the tactics coincide with those contained in the Taguba report: beatings and prolonged periods handcuffed to furniture. In an article in the December 1998 Issue of The Progressive, Rabbi Lynn Gottlieb reported on the treatment given to a 23-year old Palestinian held on "administrative detention." The prisoner was "cuffed behind a chair 17 hours a day for 120 days . . . [he] had his head covered with a sack, which was often dipped in urine or feces. Guards played loud music right next to his ears and frequently taunted him with threats of physical and sexual violence." If additional photos and videos document such practices, the Bush administration and the American people have, indeed, "seen nothing yet."

Although it is still largely undocumented if any of the contractor named in the report of General Antonio Taguba were associated with the Israeli military or intelligence services, it is noteworthy that one, John

Israel, who was identified in the report as being employed by both CACI International of Arlington, Virginia, and Titan, Inc., of San Diego, may not have even been a U.S. citizen. The Taguba report states that Israel did not have a security clearance, a requirement for employment as an interrogator for CACI. According to CACI's web site, "a Top Secret Clearance (TS) that is current and US citizenship" are required for CACI interrogators working in Iraq. In addition, CACI requires that its interrogators "have at least two years experience as a military policeman or similar type of law enforcement/intelligence agency whereby the individual utilized interviewing techniques."

Speculation that "John Israel" may be an intelligence cover name has fueled speculation whether this individual could have been one of a number of Israeli interrogators hired under a classified contract. Because U.S. citizenship and documentation thereof are requirements for a U.S. security clearance, Israeli citizens would not be permitted to hold a Top Secret clearance. However, dual U.S.-Israeli citizens could have satisfied Pentagon requirements that interrogators hold U.S. citizenship and a Top Secret clearance. Although the Taguba report refers twice to Israel as an employee of Titan, the company claims he is one of their sub-contractors. CACI stated that one of the men listed in the report "is not and never has been a CACI employee" without providing more detail. A U.S. intelligence source revealed that in the world of intelligence "carve out" subcontracts such confusion is often the case with "plausible deniability" being a foremost concern.

In fact, the Taguba report does reference the presence of non-U.S. and non-Iraqi interrogators at Abu Ghraib. The report states, "In general, US civilian contract personnel (Titan Corporation, CACI, etc), third country nationals, and local contractors do not appear to be properly supervised within the detention facility at Abu Ghraib."

The Pentagon is clearly concerned about the outing of the Taguba report and its references to CACI, Titan, and third country nationals, which could permanently damage U.S. relations with Arab and Islamic nations. The Pentagon's angst may explain why the Taguba report is classified Secret No Foreign Dissemination.

The leak of the Taguba report was so radioactive, Daniel R. Dunn, the Information Assurance Officer for Douglas Feith's Office of the Under Secretary of Defense, Policy (Policy Automation Services Security Team), sent a May 6, 2004, For Official Use Only Urgent E-mail to Pentagon staffers stating, "THE INFORMATION CONTAINED IN THIS REPORT IS CLASSIFIED; DO NOT GO TO FOX NEWS TO READ OR OBTAIN A COPY." Considering Feith's close ties to the Israelis, such a reaction by his top computer security officer, a Certified Information System Security Professional (CISSP), is understandable, although considering the fact that CISSPs are to act on behalf of the public good, it is also regrettable..

The reference to "third country nationals" in a report that restricts its dissemination to U.S. coalition partners (Great Britain, Poland, Italy, etc.) is another indication of the possible involvement of Israelis in the interrogation of Iraqi prisoners. Knowledge that the U.S. may have been using Israeli interrogators could have severely fractured the Bush administration's tenuous "coalition of the willing" in Iraq. General Taguba's findings were transmitted to the Coalition Forces Land Component Command on March 9, 2004, just six days before the Spanish general election, one that the opposition anti-Iraq war Socialists won. The Spanish ultimately withdrew their forces from Iraq.

During his testimony before the Senate Armed Service Committee, Rumsfeld was pressed upon by Senator John McCain about the role of the private contractors in the interrogations and abuse. McCain asked Rumsfeld four pertinent questions, "... who was in charge? What agency or private contractor was in charge of the interrogations? Did they have authority over the guards? And what were the instructions that they gave to the guards?"

When Rumsfeld had problems answering McCain's question, Lt. Gen. Lance Smith, the Deputy Commander of the U.S. Central Command, said there were 37 contract interrogators used in Abu Ghraib. The two named contractors, CACI and Titan, have close ties to the Israeli military and technology communities. Last January 14, after Provost Marshal General of the Army, Major General Donald Ryder, had already uncovered abuse at Abu Ghraib, CACI's President and CEO, Dr. J.P. (Jack) London was receiving the Jerusalem Fund of Aish HaTorah's Albert Einstein Technology award at the Jerusalem City Hall, with right-wing Likud politician Israeli Defense Minister Shaul Mofaz and ultra-Orthodox United Torah Judaism party Jerusalem Mayor Uri Lupolianski in attendance. Oddly, CACI waited until February 2 to publicly announce the award in a press release. CACI has also received grants from U.S.-Israeli bi-national foundations.

Titan also has had close connections to Israeli interests. After his stint as CIA Director, James Woolsey served as a Titan director. Woolsey is an architect of America's Iraq policy and the chief proponent of and lobbyist for Ahmad Chalabi of the Iraqi National Congress. An adviser to the neo-conservative Foundation for the Defense of Democracies, Jewish Institute of National Security Affairs, Project for the New American Century, Center for Security Policy, Freedom House, and Committee for the Liberation of Iraq, Woolsey is close to Stephen Cambone, the Undersecretary of Defense for Intelligence, a key person in the chain of command who would have not only known about the torture tactics used by U.S. and Israeli interrogators in Iraq but who would have also approved them. Cambone was associated with the Project for the New American Century and is viewed as a member of Rumsfeld's neo-conservative "cabal" within the Pentagon.

Another person considered by Pentagon insiders to have been knowledgeable about the treatment of Iraqi prisoners is U.S. Army Col. Steven Buccl, a Green Beret and Rumsfeld's military assistant and chief traffic cop for the information flow to the Defense Secretary. According to Pentagon insiders, Buccl was involved in the direction of a special covert operations unit composed of former U.S. special operations personnel who answered to the Pentagon rather than the CIA's Special Activities Division, the agency's own paramilitary group. The Pentagon group included Arabic linguists and former members of the Green Berets and Delta Force who operated covertly in Iraq, Afghanistan, Iran, Pakistan, and Uzbekistan. Titan also uses linguists trained in the languages (Arabic, Dari, Farsi, Pashto, Urdu, and Tajik) of those same countries. It is not known if a link exists between Rumsfeld's covert operations unit and Titan's covert operations linguists.

Another Titan employee named in the Taguba report is Adel L. Nakhla. Nakhla is a name common among Egypt's Coptic Christian community, however, it is not known if Adel Nakhla is either an Egyptian-American or a national of Egypt. A CACI employee identified in the report, Steven Stephanowicz, is referred to as "Stefanowicz" in a number of articles on the prison abuse. Stefanowicz is the spelling used by Joe Ryan, another CACI employee assigned with Stefanowicz to Abu Ghraib. Ryan is a radio personality on KSTP, a conservative radio station in Minneapolis, who maintained a daily log of his activities in Iraq on the radio's web site before it was taken down. Ryan indicated that Stefanowicz (or Stephanowicz) continued to hold his interrogation job in Iraq even though General Taguba recommended he lose his security clearance and be terminated for the abuses at Abu Ghraib.

In an even more bizarre twist, the Philadelphia Daily News identified a former expatriate public relations specialist for the government of South Australia in Adelaide named Steve Stefanowicz as possibly being the same person identified in the Taguba report. In 2000, Stefanowicz, who grew up in the Philadelphia and Allentown areas, left for Australia. On September 16, 2001, he was quoted by the Sunday Mail of Adelaide on the 911 attacks. He said of the attacks, "It was one of the most incredible and most devastating things I have ever seen. I have been in constant contact with my family and friends in the US and the mood was very solemn and quiet. But this is progressing into anger." Stefanowicz returned to the United States and volunteered for the Navy in a reserve status. His mother told the Allentown Morning Call in April 2002 that Stefanowicz was stationed somewhere in the Middle East but did not know where because of what Stefanowicz said was "security concerns." His mother told the Philadelphia Daily News that her son was in Iraq but she knew nothing about his current status.

Defending themselves? from what? stones? many of the killings have been kids throwing stones at tanks.

"Israel" stole land from the palestinians, what happen to not covet?

would you like the two to trade? give palestine the weapons and let the Israelis be suicide bombers.

what does you God promise you?

So you think that they are blowing themselves up to go to heaven? Do you think a less painful way of killing oneself would get them to heaven?

For starters:

- abortion is okay
- killing is okay as long as you say you are trying for a target
- killing is okay as long as you shoot any witnesses
- killing is okay for a good reason,
- change the "law" to create a good reason for killing
- they believe in torture
- legalized prostitution
- organized crime
- fraud
- spying
- sex slaves
- mistreating guest workers
- failing to want to work and support themselves
- lying
- hating Christ
- operating in deceit and lies
- buying off the USA
- stealing land and using Gods name to justify it. blasphemy

Do you think that they teach their children to throw stones at tanks because it makes grand headlines, and they don't want to do so themselves (being adults)? So did Jesus trick everyone and when he said "those who have not sinned throw the first stone?" What does that have to do with this subject? was he going to kill them then? So just where are the borders of Israel?

What is their constitution?

Do you find in the NT they were to set up their own land?

Did you ever look up anything I told you?

So God tells you it is okay to starve an entire population in their own land? He tells you it is okay for genocide?

Do you know what the term resident alien means?

The Israeli electorate is split. We need to remember that THEY did shoot Rabin, and the rest of Israeli politics knows that they would be shot too. It was like the way American Politics moved to the Right after they shot 2 Kennedies and Martin Luther King -- no kidding! It was like when German Politics went over to the Nazis after the Nazis had all the Socialists killed. When the People don't have a choice... well, they have no choice.

Ofcourse, in the case of Israel, if people do not believe in stealing other people's land, then what are they doing there? It was not like a Civilized People was moving into an underdeveloped and underpopulated area. The Palestinians USED TO BE the most educated and prosperous people in the Middle East. The Zionists not only stole homes, but stole profitable enterprises and the wealth of a Nation. For ANY Israeli to suddenly discern some injustice in Zionism... It is like the Proverbial Colorado Conservationists who, after their home is built, wish a moratorium on all new home building.

You know there is a more poetic... a more ironic end that we could conceive for Israel.

Remember when the Egyptians would not let the Hebrews go. After 10 Plagues finally God sent the Plague of the Death of the First Borns. The Angels attacked the Children of Egypt.

What goes around, comes around.

The Israelis should come to understand that the Swords of the Avenging Angels can cut both ways.

A Natural Disaster would not help. The Secularists would see it as an impersonal accident. International Banking would pour money in from everyone else's economies and Israel would be newer and shinier after the dust settled. Only if the Retribution is clearly and obviously of Divine Origin. The World must see the Angels strike.

Melchizzadek had been King of Salem, which became Jerusalem (I think). There is nothing wrong with Jerusalem that being populated with good people would not fix. So you don't need to throw away the Bath Tub to get rid of the bath water.

Discounting the Jews, if the Catholic Church and the Islamic Schools were ever able to forge a Reconciliation -- inspired by the Prophets who will come before the Second Coming -- then Jerusalem would be the natural compromise Capital -- between East and West, and between Rome and Mecca.

What a load of crap.

I continued, "I also have problem with being your friend when you and your brother clerics are telling your followers to kill me. Let me ask you a question. Would you rather have your Allah who tells you to kill me in order to go to Heaven or my Jesus who tells me to love you because I am going to Heaven and He wants you to be with me?"

And yet I have been told here many times that Jesus authorized violence against his enemies.

And how about this tiny gem:

I then stated, "Well, sir, I have a real problem trying to imagine Pope John Paul commanding all Catholics to kill those of your faith or Pat Robertson or Dr. Stanley ordering Protestants to do the same in order to go to Heaven!"

Well, Pope's have declared war against the Muslim world many times simply because they were Muslim. Anyone happen to remeber that lovely time period called the "Crusades"?

If so, then what part do you dispute, and why? Can you straighten us all out, because the Koran only mentions living forever in paradise in conjunction with killing 'infidels.' Are you saying that the Koran is wrong, or that knowing the truth about it is wrong? Well, POpe's have declared war against the Muslim world many times simply because they were Muslim. Anyone happen to remember that lovely time period called the "Crusades"? So, you believe that two wrongs make a right? Pat Robertson advocates the stoning of ufo enthusiasts (<http://www.parascope.com/articles/0897/ufodeath.htm>) I'm sorry, but your link is broken. But, just because one person advocates doing something foolish doesn't mean that the Lord, or His followers are all in error. While they may not exactly be say to do so to get into heaven they are still saying it. Again, you're trying to paint The Word of God with the dirt of His followers. It is not a few mis-quotes or radical extremists which advocate the extinction of all 'infidels,' but the basis of the Koran and the fundamental teaching of Islam, which we recognize as inherently evil, and grossly mis-guided.

Balder

June 15th, 2004, 07:21 AM

Aimiel, I've asked this before: Do you then view the extermination campaigns in the Bible in the same light? Was the mass murder of the Canaanites 'inherently evil, and grossly mis-guided'?

In my opinion, it is foolish to label a whole people "evil." That's the kind of thing we do to make mass murder more palatable, psychologically, but it is 'grossly mis-guided.' I agree with you that endorsement of the murder of "unbelievers" is wrong, and to the extent that that is accepted as an inspired part of the Koran, truly expressive of the holy will of God, Islam will always be "compromised," in my opinion. But you don't go far enough -- you are unable to see the evil in the heart of your own religion's history, not just as the actions of a few bad people, but enshrined in its scriptures as God's will. You can't get around the fact that the God of the Pentateuch resembles in many ways the bloody, murderous and cruel God you despise in Islam. This God is an "icon" of a certain kind of thinking.

It may have been "acceptable" at one time.

It no longer is.

Peace,
Balder

Aimiel

June 15th, 2004, 11:25 AM

It would be a lot nicer world if what you profess (that genocide is un-acceptable, worldwide) were so. Many cultures have 'black-and-white' thinking, many even more profoundly than Christian zealots or Muslim terrorists. There are people that profess Christ, who are against Israel. There are people who believe that every 'infidel' should be put to the sword. There are communists who are still bent on forcing communism down the throat of the free world. People certainly should not be labeled 'evil,' but Islam, which is the most sophisticated form of terrorism, so far, certainly is. The people who call themselves Muslim aren't evil, but their father and puppet-master (Satan) certainly is.

As far as bringing blind accusation against God's People, as you suggest, I don't believe that obeying The Word of The Lord is anything less than holy. When we do what we're told by Him, whether it is to do our job, day-to-day, or to take out the trash (such as the US Military was called to do), so that the world can be a safer place to live, that is what we need to be doing, and it is a holy thing. I believe that if Israel were more obedient down through the ages, that it would have spoken to the inherent 'goodness' of human beings, that most non-Christians love to go on about; and perhaps there might have been salvation available to humans without The Lord having to die upon the cross. They weren't, because we haven't any, there isn't and He did. Israel disobeyed, I mean; humans are evil, there is no salvation in anyone except Jesus and He did have to die to bring it to us.

Balder

June 15th, 2004, 11:44 AM

What do you mean by "take out the trash," esp. in relation to the actions of the US military or "God's People"?

Aimiel

June 15th, 2004, 12:40 PM

Well, it usually falls to the lowest-ranking member of a company (smaller companies, anyway, like the one that I work for) to take out the garbage. When the US decides to do so (such as removing British rule from our lives, eradicating slavery, ridding the world of communism, facism and removing insane dictators before they get nuclear weapons, we all prosper. When we do so, we're warmongers. The world loves the new 'enlightened state' that they enjoy, but rarely give credit to the ones that bring it about. Never a, "Thank you," much less any appreciation of the one that does the dirty job of cleaning up. I see Israel as much the same. I've often said that the janitor is the most important member of the church. If it weren't for him, we'd all be knee-deep in garbage. God chooses to exhalt some, and to put down others. I thank Him that He blessed us, and will continue to do so, as long as we bless Israel. The ones that curse her, are under His Curse, because of their disobedience.

Balder

June 17th, 2004, 08:34 AM

I thought this little tidbit of history was rather interesting:

U.S. WAR AGAINST TERRORISTS GOES BACK TO FOUNDING FATHERS
by: Francis Frangipane

Most Americans probably think the Islamic terrorists declared war on the United States Sept. 11, 2001. Actually, it started a long time before - right from the birth of the nation. In 1784, Thomas Jefferson, John Adams and Benjamin Franklin were commissioned by the first Congress to assemble in Paris to see about marketing U.S. products in Europe. Jefferson quickly surmised that the biggest challenge facing U.S. merchant ships were those referred to euphemistically as "Barbary pirates."

They weren't "pirates" at all in the traditional sense, Jefferson noticed. They didn't drink and chase women, and they really weren't out to strike it rich. Instead, their motivation was strictly religious. They bought and sold slaves, to be sure. They looted ships. But they used their booty to buy guns, ships, cannon and ammunition. Like those we call "terrorists" today, they saw themselves engaged in Jihad and called themselves "mujahiddin."

Why did these 18th-century terrorists represent such a grave threat to U.S. merchant ships? With independence from Great Britain, the former colonists lost the protection of the greatest navy in the world. The U.S. had no navy - not a single warship. Jefferson inquired of his European hosts how they dealt with the problem. He was stunned to find out that France and England both paid tribute to the fiends - who would, in turn, use the money to expand their own armada, buy more weaponry, hijack more commercial ships, enslave more innocent civilians and demand greater ransom. This didn't make sense to Jefferson. He recognized the purchase of peace from the Muslims only worked temporarily. They would always find an excuse to break an agreement, blame the Europeans and demand higher tribute.

A Very Different Policy

After three months researching the history of militant Islam, he came up with a very different policy to deal with the terrorists. But he didn't get to implement it until years later. As the first secretary of state, Jefferson urged the building of a navy to rescue American hostages held in North Africa and to deter future attacks on U.S. ships. In 1792, he commissioned John Paul Jones to go to Algiers under the guise of diplomatic negotiations, but with the real intent of sizing up a future target of a naval attack.

Jefferson was ready to retire a year later when what could only be described as "America's first Sept. 11" happened. America was struck with its first mega-terror attack by jihadists. In the fall of 1793, the Algerians seized 11 U.S. merchant ships and enslaved more than 100 Americans. When word of the attack reached New York, the stock market crashed. Voyages were canceled in every major port. Seamen were thrown out of work. Ship suppliers went out of business. What Sept. 11 did to the U.S. economy in 2001, the mass shipjacking of 1793 did to the fledgling U.S. economy in that year.

Accordingly, it took the U.S. Congress only four months to decide to build a fleet of warships. But even then, Congress didn't choose war as Jefferson prescribed. Instead, while building what would become the U.S. Navy, Congress sent diplomats to reason with the Algerians. The U.S. ended up paying close to $1 million and giving the pasha of Algiers a new warship, "The Crescent," to win release of 85 surviving American hostages.

It wasn't until 1801, under the presidency of Jefferson, that the U.S. engaged in what became a four-year war against Tripoli. And it wasn't until 1830, when France occupied Algiers, and later Tunisia and Morocco, that the terrorism on the high seas finally ended. France didn't leave North Africa until 1962 - and it quickly became a major base of terrorism once again.

What's the moral of the story?

Appeasement never works. Jefferson saw it. Sept. 11 was hardly the beginning. The war in which we fight today is the longest conflict in human history. It's time to learn from history, not repeat its mistakes.

I do approve of his ministry, and find that he is accurate, and is unique in his relationship with The Lord. I also believe that you've confused the message with the messenger. If I were to prophecy, "The Lord says that you will die today," that is not me asking for someone to kill you or placing a contract on your life. How can approximately 1 Billion of your supposed God's people all believe in a false god? Arent you then assuming 1/6th of the worlds population has been gripped by satan? Combine that with the astounding ammount of buddhists, hindus and other such religions how can so many other people believe in different incarnations of one God and yet yours be the only one, the right one?

If it's a numbers game Christianity has always lost out.

Not merely an assumption, but a derived fact.
Pardon my ignorance, but what is a "derived fact"? :confused:

The Lord Is The Only God that exists. If YHWH actually believes there are no other deities then why did he lie by implication to the ancient Jews when he ordered them not to worship other deities? If there weren't any others, why not just say so? If there weren't any others, then the first command in the decalogue is spurious.

Not "true" gods, Zakath...

Not "true" gods, Zakath...
That depends entirely on how one defines "god", doesn't it?

The bible text seems to use the term much more broadly than does Western Christianity.

These researcher made a point the other day that YHWH did not deny the power or legitimacy of other gods but simply called them false and commanded the hebrews not to worship them. Christians use the word "false" as an implication to the other deities being powerless and finite.

That's not a totally inconsistent conclusion. When they claim that those gods simply do not exist, then they've contradicted their Scriptures. The Bible time and again points to the other gods in the ancient middle-eastern pantheon.

Jehovah also never said it was impossible, say, to communicate with the dead. But he definitely forbade it.

Because it denies the diety of Jesus Christ.

Gal 1:8 But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed.

Gal 1:9 As we said before, so say I now again, If any [man] preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed.

Melody, I really think your stretching of Galations to apply to some fantasy battle between "Good" Christianity and "Evil" Islam is as inappropriate as it is misguided. In fact, when I first read your post I wondered if "Gal" was some Islamic name for a verse out of the Koran! When first saw it that way, it sounded just as fundamentalist as the Christian kind.

Galations IS an authentic letter of Paul's (according to mainstream scholars), but if you read the beginning, Paul is expressing an angry rant that the church in Galatia is following the Torah's laws--the Ten Commandments and the dietary and circumsion guidelines from Moses. He feels like he is losing his influence and wants to steer the congregation back to his version--away from James' ideas.

In any event, contextual reading is very important here. This "either/or" approach to the complex divine reality we are blessed with is, in my opinion, unnecessary limiting to our spiritual growth.

And as far as America's wake-up call to the Arab world since 9-11, a blunt and rude way to put it might be something like:

JUST WHICH PART OF JESUS' "LOVE THINE ENEMIES" DON'T YOU UNDERSTAND?

Since all of us have been raised in a culture that bows down to the idol of "the Myth of Redemptive Violence," this part of our faith--and a necessary one, I believe--ain't gonna be easy.

Paul is expressing an angry rant that the church in Galatia is following the Torah's laws--the Ten Commandments and the dietary and circumsion guidelines from Moses. Paul affirms the Law and he quotes from it many times in his letters. The point in the letter to the Galatians is that we are not justified through the Law.

His anger against the circumsion party:

Gal. 6.12 Those who want to make a good showing in the flesh are the ones who would compel you to be circumsised--but only to avoid being persecuted for the cross of Christ.

The circumsion group escaped Jewish opposition to Christianity by turning Christian converts into Jewish proselytes. They made Torah-observance a necessary preliminary and nullified the offense of the Cross.

I guess I would just say that Paul lays the groundwork that has come to be now the difference between "the gospel" and "the law," the contrast between Judaism as legalistic and gentile Christianity as the "Spirit of Christ." When he starts to compare Christ and Abraham and then sets Judaism against Christianity, the die is cast.

Are you in argument mode? I call no one else creator and sustainer...I just honestly think that Jesus established something unique. It seemed like you were giving that role to Paul.

This is a good time to say this.. For almost 2 years, I've disagreed with darn near every thing you've said on the whole topic of religion. And of course your political nemesis is BillyBob, who will drive your rep down to the farthest nether-sphere until it's incinerated in boiling magma. So you have a religious conservative and a political conservative yelling at you.

And do you ever come back for more! I'm glad. I think you have an exceptional way with words, like my favorite magazine writers: Nancy Gibbs, the folks at Slate.com, and don't be offended, Charles Krauthammer. You should freelance, if you're not doing that already.

I just wanted to take a break from polemics and say thanks.

I just honestly think that Jesus established something unique. It seemed like you were giving that role to Paul. I usually respond to threads with an incautious haste, so I probably did not communicate in a way that could be understood. I agree with you that Jesus established something unique that showed that he was divine; Paul established something unique that showed that he was a remarkable man. This is a good time to say this.. For almost 2 years, I've disagreed with darn near every thing you've said on the whole topic of religion. And of course your political nemesis is BillyBob, who will drive your rep down to the farthest nether-sphere until it's incinerated in boiling magma. So you have a religious conservative and a political conservative yelling at you. I don't mind--have back at me! One reason I was given those cute li' red boxes by my screenname is because many on this website are in need of affirmation. They don't really feel comfortable in America and they need to listen to other people just like them. I actually enjoy living in a free country--constantly hearing an echo is not my idea of a good time. And do you ever come back for more! I'm glad. I think you have an exceptional way with words, like my favorite magazine writers: Nancy Gibbs, the folks at Slate.com, and don't be offended, Charles Krauthammer. as an implication to the other deities being powerless and finite. That's because Christians study The Bible, to find out all of what God has said, instead of just portions. He also said that they do not exist. He said that there are no gods besides Him. He doesn't want us to bow down to them, because in so doing, we would give power to their source, which is demonic. They are not only powerless and finite, but their master, Satan, has been defeated, and his power and authority were stripped from him.

I take it back and I now have egg all over my face. I have just praised a plagiarist. When you ASSUME, you make an A** out of ME and Uma Thurman. If I pass along something else, I'll put the source in larger type for those who might be inclined to rush to judgement on an aspect of my character...

Now, wipe the egg off your face and finish breakfast.
