Slide 2	Words of Wisdom "The necessity of procuring good intelligence is apparent and need not be further urged (debated)." George Washington	The recognition of the need for intelligence is centuries old. George Washington understood this.
Slide 53	Words of Wisdom of [REDACTED] He who knows the art of knowing the enemy and the professional who seeks use the highest intelligence of the army for purposes of spying and thereby achieve great results. Spies are most important of all other means, because on them depends an army's survival or defeat. Know the enemy and know yourself, you need not fear the result of a hundred battles. If you know yourself but not the enemy, you will win some battles and lose others. If you know neither the enemy nor yourself, you will lose every battle. The knowledge of the enemy's dispositions can only be obtained from other spies. Spies cannot be used by anyone and without a certain initial intelligence. They cannot be properly managed without benevolence and faithfulness. Without such integrity of mind, one cannot entrust them with the conduct of their errands. Be careful to select and use your spies for every kind of business. Sun Tzu	Centuries ago, Sun Tzu employed the use of [REDACTED] to win battles. He devoted an entire chapter to the [REDACTED]
