Thursday afternoon after 2:00 pm is a good day/time for a call if you are available.

Tracey: we would be very willing and interested in learning about your website. Please let us know when a convenient time would be view/discuss.

Looking forward to working with all of you.

Dave

David,

Per our email exchange last week, I would like to introduce you to two colleagues who are working on initiatives with a nexus to education.

Brandy Donini-Melanson is working with Boston Public Schools, the Massachusetts Office of Health and Human Services, and several other local partners to develop the local action plan we discussed. Brandy welcomes your feedback early in the drafting process, so that the action plan can be as palatable to education partners as possible.

Tracy Miller is coordinating development of a website to educate high school students about various forms of violent extremism. If you are interested in arranging a time for Department of Education colleagues to view the forthcoming website and provide feedback, Tracy offered to set up a meeting during the latter half of next week.
