HSIN CVE-AS Web Portal:

To counter violent extremism and prevent active shooter events, DHS is working with a broad range of government, law enforcement and civilian partners to gain a better understanding of the behaviors, tactics and other indicators that could point to potential violent and/or terrorist activity, and the best ways to mitigate or prevent that activity.

One of the venues utilized by DHS to promote information and intelligence sharing on a broad range of topics is the joint DHS and FBI Countering Violent Extremism and Active Shooter (CVE-AS) web portals on HSIN. The main CVE-AS web portal shares Unclassified For Official Use Only (FOUO), Sensitive But Unclassified (SBU) information with private sector partners, civilian security personnel, corporate executives, educational institutions/academia, international federal and Law Enforcement partners, community leaders and other State and Local partners, as appropriate. There is also a restricted portal (Fed/LE) that provides a forum for the exchange of Unclassified FOUO and SBU and Law Enforcement Sensitive (LES) information to sworn, full-time, Federal, State and Local law enforcement officers; federal employees affiliated with the criminal justice system or intelligence communities; military personnel; and government agencies associated with infrastructure protection of the United States. In addition, the portal includes information on outreach initiatives, subject matter experts and forums to provide feedback, share products, and ask questions.

To learn more about the benefits and information included on the CVE-AS web portal and/or to register for access, please visit www.dhs.gov/cveas-portal .
