

Law Enforcement Terror Bomber Recognition Card

External appearance

- Clothes unsuitable for the time of year (e.g. a coat in the summer).
- Anything protruding in an unusual way under the person's clothing.

Suspicious behavior

- Nervousness, tension, profuse perspiration.
- Walking slowly in a hesitant manner, glancing right and left; or running in a "mission driven" manner.
- Repeated attempts to avoid police or security personnel; avoiding eye contact.
- Repeated nervous searching for something under one's clothing.
- Nervous, hesitant mumbling.
- Hands in pockets of trousers or outer clothing; and, individual refuses to show hands/palms when told to do so.

Suspicious equipment/vehicle

- Luggage or gym bag obviously weighing more than normal.
- Electrical wires, switches or electronic devices sticking out of a bag or pocket.
- A vehicle parked suspiciously for a prolonged time in a central place or near a strategic site.
- The vehicle's rear sags noticeably (weighted down).
- Stolen or non-matching license plates.

Key activities suggesting possible terrorist surveillance is in progress may include:

- Surveillance involving 2-3 individuals of any age or sex working together.
- Mobile surveillance using bicycles, scooters, motorcycles, sport-utility vehicles, cars, trucks, boats or small aircraft.
- Persons or vehicles being seen in the same location on multiple occasions; persons sitting in a parked car for an extended period of time.
- Persons not fitting into the surrounding environment, such as wearing improper attire for the location.
- Persons drawing pictures or taking notes, photographing, or videotaping in an area not normally of interest to a tourist.
- Persons using ruses or disguises to cover their activities who are new or unnatural to the area; such as a beggar, demonstrator, shoe shiner, food vendor, street sweeper, or a newspaper or flower vendor.
- Unusual or prolonged interest in security measures or personnel, entry points and access controls, ventilation systems, or perimeter barriers such as fences or walls.
- False alarms when individuals are observed monitoring (or may be monitoring) security reaction, techniques, or procedures.

perelmansecuritygroup.com

Law Enforcement Terror Bomber Recognition Card

External appearance

- Clothes unsuitable for the time of year (e.g. a coat in the summer).
- Anything protruding in an unusual way under the person's clothing.

Suspicious behavior

- Nervousness, tension, profuse perspiration.
- Walking slowly in a hesitant manner, glancing right and left; or running in a "mission driven" manner.
- Repeated attempts to avoid police or security personnel; avoiding eye contact.
- Repeated nervous searching for something under one's clothing.
- Nervous, hesitant mumbling.
- Hands in pockets of trousers or outer clothing; and, individual refuses to show hands/palms when told to do so.

Suspicious equipment/vehicle

- Luggage or gym bag obviously weighing more than normal.
- Electrical wires, switches or electronic devices sticking out of a bag or pocket.
- A vehicle parked suspiciously for a prolonged time in a central place or near a strategic site.
- The vehicle's rear sags noticeably (weighted down).
- Stolen or non-matching license plates.

Key activities suggesting possible terrorist surveillance is in progress may include:

- Surveillance involving 2-3 individuals of any age or sex working together.
- Mobile surveillance using bicycles, scooters, motorcycles, sport-utility vehicles, cars, trucks, boats or small aircraft.
- Persons or vehicles being seen in the same location on multiple occasions; persons sitting in a parked car for an extended period of time.
- Persons not fitting into the surrounding environment, such as wearing improper attire for the location.
- Persons drawing pictures or taking notes, photographing, or videotaping in an area not normally of interest to a tourist.
- Persons using ruses or disguises to cover their activities who are new or unnatural to the area; such as a beggar, demonstrator, shoe shiner, food vendor, street sweeper, or a newspaper or flower vendor.
- Unusual or prolonged interest in security measures or personnel, entry points and access controls, ventilation systems, or perimeter barriers such as fences or walls.
- False alarms when individuals are observed monitoring (or may be monitoring) security reaction, techniques, or procedures.

perelmansecuritygroup.com