(If 5 MB is a problem for your account you may want to drag and drop on your desktop, before opening.)

Attached is the conops that I mentioned.

I looked through it quickly and no specific statements regarding user costs. But on p. 17 under Nature of Changes, it states that E-Guardian is "Web Enabled" and E-Guardian "Requires no Site Licenses".

Those two features suggest that there are no unique equipment needs and/or software requirements.

So sounds like any cost drivers we would have are,

- Additional Manpower to work this in Q1 and Q3 (if needed) and
- Do we have sufficient internet terminals in Q1 and Q3, for those with accounts to access,

I looked (albiet very quickly) to see if read-only and read-write accounts are part of the scheme. I didn't see anything specific, so possibly all the accounts are read-write.

Hope this helps.

Charlie,

A quick look at the task we discussed. This task relates to E-Guardian. Our suspense for response COB on Wed. 31 Mar. I'll need some type of indication on what is needed for implementation, by COB on Tuesday, so I can work through BF on Wed. and get out by COB on Wed

The estimate should be for funding and additional manpower (if needed).

As you will see from this, implementation is not clearly defined. Possibly [redacted] would have a better view of how extensive implementation should be.

[redacted]

As mentioned, Donna P. will discuss with Kemp this morning. Should that conversation limit how we pursue this, I'll advise as soon as known (probably after lunch today).

I'll discuss separate with [redacted] so he has the same background.
