This correspondence is being sent to you on behalf of NSI PMO Director Tom O'Reilly. As part of an ongoing effort to review and evaluate the contributions to, and use of the NSI Shared Spaces (SS), attached below is a quick snapshot of SAR activity for your center. The chart shows both SAR searches and submissions for the last two weeks as well as historical activity based upon the date your center became active with the NSI. It also shows SARs submitted to eGuardian via the SS – not SARs that have been independently entered into the eGuardian system.

The NSI PMO is striving to make the querying of the Shared Spaces by fusion analysts a routine part of the daily operations for all fusion centers participating in the NSI. Furthermore, the searching of the Shared Spaces for information about a potential ISE-SAR prior to the contribution of the information to the SS should be a standard part of the analytic vetting process. While the processes at each fusion center will vary, the NSI PMO would like to ensure your center isn't experiencing any technical difficulties with the Shared Spaces that would impede your center's use of the system. Director O'Reilly would like to discuss any suggestions you have for improving SAR processes as well as any concerns you have about the current system or training. You may contact Director O'Reilly at (202) 353-8590 for additional discussion or questions regarding this report. Within the next two weeks, you can expect a phone call from Director O'Reilly.
