Jack, please call the DFO cell to request exemption approval. He will need to know only the basics of her status and travel (b)(7)(E) and otherwise admissible.

If the 2nd is almost done, you can call on both - No need to wait. Even if only waiting (b)(7)(E), brief him on the individual and he will give approval (b)(7)(E) with something. That way when (b)(7)(E) (b)(7)(E) can walk immediately.

Lawyers are advising green card holders to fly into Boston

By Lisa Wangsness GLOBE STAFF JANUARY 29, 2017

Some immigration lawyers are advising green card holders from seven majority-Muslim countries affected by President Trump's order and who are traveling overseas to fly back to the United States through Boston because a Massachusetts judge's order blocking the enforcement of President Trump's executive order offers them more protection than similar judicial orders elsewhere.

The order signed by Judge Allison Burroughs and Magistrate Judge Judith Dein, issued early Sunday morning, requires the government to release approved refugees and individuals with valid visas from the seven majority-Muslim countries listed in President Trump's executive order — Iraq, Syria, Sudan, Libya, Somalia, and Yemen.

A similar order from a New York judge blocks immigration officials from deporting those individuals upon their arrival, but it allows the government to detain them pending further legal review.

Becca Heller, director and co-founder of the International Refugee Assistance Project, said green card holders from the seven countries have been detained at John F. Kennedy International Airport and Los Angeles International Airport, as well as other airports around the country.

She said that her team is trying to plan "a massive outreach campaign" to alert green card holders to change their plans and fly through Boston.

"We continue to face Border Patrol noncompliance and chaos at every airport across the country and the world, despite the fact we had a great victory last night," she told reporters on the same conference call on Sunday.

The Burroughs restraining order is in effect for seven days; the court will schedule a hearing prior to its expiration.

Good Evening,

The below guidance is being provided again to ensure that all carriers are aware of the District Court’s order in Louhghalam v. Trump, No. 17-cv-10154 (issued on January 29, 2017). That order is attached.

Airlines are informed that CBP will process all individuals arriving at Logan Airport in accordance with the law. Upon arrival at Logan International Airport all individuals will be processed in accordance with the law, including to determine if they are inadmissible. Those individuals who are inadmissible will be placed in appropriate removal proceedings and detained only where it is permissible under the law. See INA 235(b)(1). Carriers are reminded that it is unlawful to bring into the United States any alien who does not have a valid passport and an unexpired visa, if a visa was required under the Act or regulations issued thereunder.

Yeah, I expect it's a way to clear us from extreme vetting of LPRs across the board. But there really isn't a way to tell for sure. It would be helpful to know before a statement is released.

(b)(6), (b)(7)(C)

Thank you for the email keeping me abreast of the events taking place in Boston. That's awesome to read how CBP Boston is doing such a great job amidst the chaos of the new Executive Order and the effects it has had on the traveling public. Hats off to my colleagues at the Port of Boston.

With that said, I wanted to give you a quick update on things here in Doha. The first day of the new Executive Order we did 66 offloads. On the busiest day I've ever worked here in Doha (and this includes my last TDY here) we did 7 offloads. That was a crazy day. 66 offloads was the most challenging day we've ever had. The good news is that since that day, Qatar Airways has been offloading the passengers at the originating airports.

There have been quite a good amount of travelers, including LPR's, making it to Doha in the past few days. Some of them, including LPR's who are traveling on ADIT stamps, or Transportation Letters, have been referred to us for assisted boardings to the US. I wanted to give you an example of the work we've been doing, not only to protect the United States and support the CBP mission, but to be there for assistance to the traveling public.

Two days ago on January 31st I, unfortunately, had to offload a gentleman from Yemen, who was traveling on an advanced parole. (b)(7)(E) could not vet him on-time for boarding, so I offloaded him until the vetting could be complete. Here is the closeout:

(b)(6), (b)(7)(C), (b)(7)(E)

After hours of going back and forth with (b)(7)(E) and interviewing the passenger, they finally cleared him for travel to the US. My colleague (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) and I worked on our own time to locate the passenger at the airport after he was offloaded and ascertain information from him that (b)(7)(E) was requesting. Long story short, once he was cleared to travel, I had Qatar Airways re-book him on flight QR 703 to JFK at 0145 on February 1st. I personally met him at the gate that evening and made sure he got on the flight. In 13 years of doing this job, this was the first time a passenger hugged me, had tears in his eyes, and thanked me for 'saving his life'. It really hit home for me. Mr. (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) was so grateful for the effort that CBPO (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) (Rochester, NY) and I put in to get him cleared to board the flight to NY. He was at the airport in Doha for an additional 18 hours after we had to offload him and he was ecstatic that he was finally going home.

It's this kind of work that we do at IAP that seldom gets recognized, but it's life changing. In addition to the email that I sent you a couple weeks ago, I just wanted to let you know what's going on here too during this time.

All, one message I not only don't mind putting in writing as relates to the Executive Order, but hope everyone sees is how appreciative I am of the Professionalism you all have portrayed over the very busy and often chaotic past five days.

I have seen and heard similar reporting from numerous sources including media, attorneys, port authorities, police and politicians that despite the controversy over policy, the CBP personnel have been nothing but courteous in dealing with the traveling public. I personally spoke to several passengers in secondary over the weekend and was told how pleased they were with their interactions with you - notwithstanding secondary processing.

Mr. Tootkaboni's highlighted quote below from the Sunday Boston Globe article says it best. Note this is particularly interesting as his was one of the names in the petition against the White House that resulted in the Boston District Court injunction.

It's important to the Nation that we continue to focus on the CBP mission and not get distracted or dismayed by the ongoing controversies. You have my full confidence. Thank you!

By Nestor Ramos Globe Staff January 29, 2017

Mazdak Tootkaboni was welcomed after being detained at Boston's Logan airport. He and his wife, Arghavan Louhghalam, are professors at UMass Dartmouth and are green card holders.

Confined to a holding room at Logan International Airport Saturday afternoon, two UMass Dartmouth professors had no idea that their detention had become the basis for a legal challenge to key provisions of President Trump's immigration order.

Mazdak Pourabdollah Tootkaboni and Arghavan Louhghalam, a married couple, had been on their way back from a weeklong sustainable engineering conference in Marseille, France, Tootkaboni said in an interview Sunday morning. The first inkling that something had changed came when an official at Charles De Gaulle Airport in Paris cautioned them that new rules, enacted in the past 24 hours, could cause the couple some problems on their journey home.

"He checked a few things and said, 'because you gave green cards you should be OK,' " said Tootkaboni. So the couple, Iranian immigrants who have lived in the United States as permanent residents for more than a decade, boarded the flight home at about 4 p.m. Paris time.

The trip was routine. The couple watched movies, and the flight landed early.

"I never felt that we were going to be banned from entering the country," Tootkaboni said, though he said that Louhghalam was "a little stressed out."

Only after they'd gone through the standard process for re-entry did things change. The couple and about a dozen others were pulled aside and informed that they were now subject to a "secondary process," said Tootkaboni, 40.

And so they waited. There were occasional routine questions, he said, about the trip and their jobs (both are engineering professors with doctoral degrees from Johns Hopkins University). The officials who questioned them were pleasant, Tootkaboni said, and checked in every half-hour or so to see if they needed water or a trip to the restroom.

"They were very, very professional and unexpectedly kind and nice," Tootkaboni said.

Unbeknownst to the people waiting, who Tootkaboni said were barred from using cell phones, the scene in the airport outside was growing chaotic.

Lawyers for the American Civil Liberties Union Massachusetts found Louhghalam's sister, Tootkaboni said, and got their names. Their detention, which lasted about four hours, became the basis for a judge's overnight ruling that prohibits people lawfully entitled to enter the country from being detained or removed.

When Tootkaboni and Louhghalam finally emerged — they were nearly the last to be cleared — they walked into a roiling protest.

Tootkaboni said he wasn't sure what would happen next — whether they would continue to be involved beyond the seven-day temporary restraining order that was issued overnight, and in what capacity.

Mr. (b)(6), (b)(7)(C)

Thank you for the email keeping me abreast of the events taking place in Boston. That's awesome to read how CBP Boston is doing such a great job amidst the chaos of the new Executive Order and the effects it has had on the traveling public. Hats off to my colleagues at the Port of Boston.

With that said, I wanted to give you a quick update on things here in Doha. The first day of the new Executive Order we did 66 offloads. On the busiest day I've ever worked here in Doha (and this includes my last TDY here) we did 7 offloads. That was a crazy day. 66 offloads was the most challenging day we've ever had. The good news is that since that day, Qatar Airways has been offloading the passengers at the originating airports.

There have been quite a good amount of travelers, including LPR's, making it to Doha in the past few days. Some of them, including LPR's who are traveling on ADIT stamps, or Transportation Letters, have been referred to us for assisted boardings to the US. I wanted to give you an example of the work we've been doing, not only to protect the United States and support the CBP mission, but to be there for assistance to the traveling public.

Two days ago on January 31st I, unfortunately, had to offload a gentleman from Yemen, who was traveling on an advanced parole. (b)(7)(E) could not vet him on-time for boarding, so I offloaded him until the vetting could be complete. Here is the closeout:

(b)(6), (b)(7)(C), (b)(7)(E)

After hours of going back and forth with (b)(7)(E) and interviewing the passenger, they finally cleared him for travel to the US. My colleague (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) and I worked on our own time to locate the passenger at the airport after he was offloaded and ascertain information from him that NTC was requesting. Long story short, once he was cleared to travel, I had Qatar Airways re-book him on flight QR 703 to JFK at 0145 on February 1st. I personally met him at the gate that evening and made sure he got on the flight. In 13 years of doing this job, this was the first time a passenger hugged me, had tears in his eyes, and thanked me for 'saving his life'. It really hit home for me. Mr. (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) was so grateful for the effort that CBPO (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) (Rochester, NY) and I put in to get him cleared to board the flight to NY. The DFO concurred with our plan of being reactive with media at this point, rather than being proactive. He also thought that prepping for local Q's was a good idea and offered to review them before passing them to counsel. Based on our conversation this am, I think the local questions we need to be prepared for are below. Any others you think we should anticipate?

- Is CBP in Boston complying with the temporary restraining order?
- How many people are currently detained at Logan as a result of the Executive Order? (can use national FAQ answer as a base answer)
- How many have been detained at Logan to date? (can pull from website, suggest keeping #'s national vs Logan specific)

Would you the two of you be able to take lead on drafting suggested responses for review today, so the DFO can review and then flip it to counsel? If so, I think we can plan on a meeting/prep session at 0930 tomorrow to go through the Q&A verbally and prep the DFO a bit, in the event that we do need to have him speak to the media on this in the near term.

CBP Officers were advised that effective immediately and under the Authority of White House Executive Order "Protecting The Nation From Foreign Terrorists Entry Into the United States" any Aliens presenting the following 7 passports are INADMISSIBLE to the United States, including

LPRs: (Except "A" and "G" visas)

- Iran
- Iraq
- Syria
- Sudan
- Somalia
- Libya
- Yemen

All nationals above (except A and G NIVs) will be subject to (b)(7)(E) exams, fully documented, and allowed to Withdraw in lieu of an Expedited Removal (ER,) unless an ER is appropriate.

Credible Fear claims will be processed as normal.

Waivers for LPRs under 212(F) may be approved by the DFO ONLY, assuming they are otherwise admissible.

Dual nationals presenting a Passport of another country (e.g. as a VWP applicant), including NIV if not a VWP country, may be processed under that presented national identity. This does not preclude thorough vetting as appropriate.

All inquiries shall be deferred to:

- OPA (b)(6), (b)(7)(C)
- (b)(6), (b)(7)(C)
- BFO: (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) Office: (b)(6), (b)(7)(C)
- (b)(6), (b)(7)(C)

REPORTING on any cases will be due to BSC (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) by 0500 hours. (On Duty WC will provide)

Track all OT expenses directly related to these actions.

With all the changes that the latest executive order brings, a potential outcome that we must be prepared to deal with is community/traveler backlash. Talk to your troops and reinforce the need to be professional when dealing with potential situations and most importantly stay vigilant both on and off duty.

Further information will be made available upon receipt.

Further information will be made available upon receipt.

KEY HIGHLIGHTS:

- Effective immediately, all entry into the United States for aliens who are national from Iran, Iraq, Somalia, Libya, Syria, Yemen and Sudan is suspended. Existing visas have been revoked by the Department of State.
- Non-immigrants and first-time arriving immigrants will be allowed to withdraw their application for admission in lieu of expedited removal (ER), unless an ER is appropriate.
- A, G, and C-2 visa holders are exempt.
- Legal Permanent Residents (LPR) from these countries can only be granted an exemption (212(f)) from the DFO, assuming they are otherwise admissible. All waiver requests should be submitted through your chain of command.
- When encountering any applicants for admission from these countries, refer them to secondary, where they will undergo a detailed (b)(7)(E). These exams will be fully documented.
- Fear claims will be processed as normal.
- For dual nationals, we will process the first passport presented, so if an applicant presents a passport from one of the 7 listed countries, they will not be allowed in. They will not be allowed to present a different passport to gain access.
- There will be challenges with families of mixed statuses.
 - For example, LPR parents with U.S. citizen children. In these instances, children will stay with their parents who may be eligible for an exemption.
 - H1B with U.S. citizen children will stay with their parent, who will be allowed to withdraw.
- Refugees, Asylees, Unaccompanied Children, and subjects returning to the US with Advanced Parole should be referred for (b)(7)(E) and held at the port of entry until such time as an exemption to the Executive Order can be obtained. This exemption falls to the Secretary of State and Secretary of Homeland Security. Further guidance will be forthcoming on processing these exemptions.

Again, I recognize that this executive order will impact many of you in many ways. I thank you for your professionalism as we enforce it and for your patience as we work to address all of its implications.

- Officer Safety Reminder - As evidenced by the protests at other locations, the changes from this executive order have the potential to produce a number of very emotional situations. It is absolutely critical that you remain vigilant both on and off duty; uniformed personnel should wear cover jackets and protective gear as appropriate

On Monday, January 30, 2017, U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) at Boston Logan Airport had three(3) arriving flights that exceeded the 90 minute max primary processing wait time threshold:

Flight that exceeded 90 minutes:

- Emirates Flight 239 from Dubai, United Arab Emirates arrived at 0658 with 300 on board and processed in 101 minutes
- Jetblue Flight 924 from Santiago, Dominican Republic arrived at 0628 with 139 on board and processed in 105 minutes
- Jetblue flight 830 from Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic arrived 0651 with 152 on board and processed in 102 minutes

Mitigating Factors:

- At the start of our 0700 shift 3 flights carrying 591 passengers arrived

- Flights contained a high number of visa holders ineligible to use the APC kiosks
- The 3 flights that arrived during this time frame averaged 51% non US citizens
- High number of wheel chair passengers
- Wait times occurred in the Triage/Visa/1st time ESTA Lanes based on the high number of visitors
- A high number of arriving Jet Blue passengers received "X" referrals from APC Kiosks
- The high volume of "X" referrals resulted in less lanes being available to process high number of visa holders

Staffing:

- Staffing was realigned to address the high number of arriving passengers and workload

Lufthansa To Abide By Anti-Ban Court Order—Travelers Targeted by Trump Can Now Fly (to Boston)

By Steve Vladeck

Thursday, February 2, 2017 at 9:27 PM

In what may well be a sign of things to come, Lufthansa has posted a notice to its website that, pursuant to the rulings of the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts, anyone with valid travel documents may board international Lufthansa flights bound for Boston—whether or not their entry into the United States is prohibited by President Trump’s Executive Order on immigration. In essence, Lufthansa has chosen to very publicly side with the district court’s order over the Executive Order, at least with respect to Boston-bound flights.

All,

Be advised, the information below has been posted to the Lufthansa website. I do not know how long this has been on the website or where they got this information from. What I do know is that two pax were offloaded on LH 422 yesterday and as of now I see only one passenger with a reservation to travel between now and 2/5 from the 7 countries that should be scheduled for offload. If this was just posted we may see some last minute bookings or rebookings into Boston so let's pay close attention to LH. Let me know if you have any questions.

New immigration restrictions for travel to the USA

The United States Government has introduced a travel ban to the USA with immediate effect.

Admission will be refused to visitors with a passport issued by 7 countries - Iran, Iraq, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria and Yemen - and holding a valid immigrant or non-immigrant visa for the US.

This travel ban does not apply to:

- Lawful Permanent Residents (Green Card holders) of the USA who also hold a passport issued by one of the 7 aforementioned countries
- Dual Nationals, holding and traveling with a valid passport issued by USA as well as a passport issued by one of the 7 aforementioned countries
- Dual Nationals holding and traveling with a valid passport issued by a third country as well as a passport issued by one of the 7 aforementioned countries
- Passengers with diplomatic visas, North Atlantic Treaty Organization visas, C-2 visas for travel to the United Nations and G-1, G-2, G-3, and G-4 visas

Due to a decision (Temporary Restraint Order) by the District Court in Massachusetts, the above mentioned Order is suspended on flights to BOS for the time being until February 5th, 2017. All passengers with valid travel documents are eligible to board on LH-flights to BOS.

Affected passengers can request one free-of-charge rebooking or refund via the Lufthansa Service Center at +49 (0) 69-86-799-799 or one of our local Lufthansa phone numbers.

For further information please refer to the website of the US Authorities.

Thanks,

Trump officials slow-walked court orders on travel ban

Customs officials blocked immigrants from seeing lawyers at Dulles Airport, despite judge's order.

By Isaac Arnsdorf

02/03/17 07:19 PM EST

Hours after a federal judge ordered customs officers to provide lawyers to travelers detained at Dulles airport last Saturday, senior Trump administration officials instructed the guards to give the travelers phone numbers of legal services organizations, ignoring a mass of lawyers who had gathered at the airport.

Most of the legal services offices were closed for the weekend, effectively preventing travelers with green cards from obtaining legal advice.

The move was part of what lawyers contend was a series of foot-dragging actions by the administration that appeared to violate court orders against the Trump's controversial travel ban.

A little over 24 hours after Trump ordered the ban, federal judges in New York, Massachusetts and Virginia issued emergency rulings blocking parts of it. But at Dulles and other airports, customs officers refused to change their procedures until their superiors conveyed instructions from agency lawyers reviewing the court decisions, according to three lawyers familiar with the situation and a congressional staff member investigating the matter.

In the early hours of Sunday morning, at least four hours after the first of the court orders came down, Todd Owen, Customs and Border Protection's executive assistant commissioner, convened a conference call for field operations to deliver new guidance, according to a person briefed on the call.

But rather than allow the detained travelers to contact lawyers waiting to serve them, Owen's team advised CBP officers at Dulles to give the travelers phone numbers for legal-services organizations.

"This is a runaround they're trying to do on these orders," said Sirine Shebaya, one of the immigration lawyers on the scene. "This is an unchecked executive that thinks it's above the judiciary."

Acting Deputy Commissioner Randolph D. Alles was also aware of the situation, according to Rep. Gerry Connolly (D-Va.), who said CBP's congressional affairs staff offered to put Alles on the phone with him on Sunday.

"Downtown was aware," Connolly said, referring to CBP headquarters. "They're not rogue elements in the U.S. government and they are not somehow above the law and beyond accountability and transparency in their operations, and they must follow due process, and they must be accountable to Congress."

Virginia Attorney General Mark Herring, who is suing to stop Trump's travel ban, said CBP should prove it complied with the court order or be held in contempt. On Friday, U.S. District Judge Leonie Brinkema said she would consider Herring's motion.

"Whether or not people who were in control should have acted differently, I'm not in a position to address" at the moment, Brinkema said at the hearing. But she emphasized "the great need to be careful at the airport not to violate the court order because there are sanctions that can result."

Lawyers believe that CBP was overzealous in enforcing Trump's executive order, which was rolled out with almost no advance planning or coordination. The order immediately set off chaos for international travelers and sparked protests at airports across the country. After reports surfaced of people with approved visas being deported or pressured into signing away their rights to enter the U.S., attorneys demanded the ability to advocate for the rights of immigrants swept up in what Trump has called "extreme vetting."

The Department of Homeland Security's internal watchdog said it's investigating claims that CBP defied court orders after receiving complaints from lawmakers and whistleblowers. Congressional Democrats also pounded DHS with letters demanding answers and records. Sen. Cory Booker (D-N.J.), speaking at Dulles late Saturday, called the apparent noncompliance a "constitutional crisis."

In Boston, where federal judges ordered the government to stop detaining or deporting people who would be allowed into the U.S. were it not for Trump's executive order, CBP Watch Commander \(b\)\(6\), \(b\)\(7\)\(C\) told airlines the agency would continue deporting people at Logan International Airport "where it is permissible under the law."

An Iranian scientist with an approved visa sued CBP for keeping her off a Tuesday flight from Switzerland to Boston.

The CBP officers at airports were not rogue individual actors, according to the documents obtained and people interviewed by POLITICO. Rather, the agents on the ground were following orders from high in their chain of command.

CBP and DHS said they're complying with the court orders while continuing to implement Trump's ban. In response to POLITICO's questions, a CBP spokeswoman declined to comment on pending litigation.

“Since the court orders related to the executive order were issued over the weekend, CBP immediately began taking immediately began taking steps to be in compliance,” Homeland Security Secretary John Kelly said in a Tuesday press conference. “We are and will remain in compliance with judicial orders.”

Acting CBP Commissioner Kevin McAleenan said at the press conference that his agency is "responding immediately to any court orders.”

Soon after Judge Brinkema issued her temporary restraining order around 9:30 p.m. last Saturday, lawyers at Dulles brandished copies of the order to demand entry to the secure area where CBP was questioning immigrants, including green card holders. The lawyers at the scene established whom CBP was holding by talking to family members waiting for them.

When an aide to Booker asked, through an airport police officer, to speak to the CBP shift commander, the commander declined, saying he only took orders from his superior.

The aide reported the problem to CBP headquarters, where an official answered that “individuals are not entitled to counsel during immigration processing at a port of arrival,” according to an affidavit Booker submitted in the Virginia lawsuit. When the aide pointed the judge’s order, the CBP official said, “The lawyers are looking at the order.”

Booker himself came to the airport close to midnight and asked to speak to CBP officials. An airport police officer prevented him from entering CBP’s area but agreed to pass notes back and forth. The CBP accepted a paper copy of Brinkema’s order and assured Booker the people who were being questioned would be released.

Overnight, CBP field operations officials spoke on the phone to avoid creating a paper trail now that the matter was in litigation, according to the person brief on the call, who wasn’t authorized to speak to reporters. Another person familiar with the process confirmed CBP issued new instructions overnight.

CBP agents at Dulles continued to block lawyers from talking to travelers into Sunday, so they were unable to determine if green card holders were being detained.

Rep. Connolly arrived on Sunday afternoon, joined by fellow Democrats Jamie Raskin and John Delaney of Maryland and Don Beyer of Virginia. Airport police blocked them from meeting with CBP officials.

Connolly said he concluded CBP was not complying with the order based on talking with the lawyers and passengers outside and by CBP’s refusal to meet with the congressmen.

“You’ve got an Orwellian order implemented with Kafkaesque incompetence leaving large parts of America in chaos and pandemonium, and lots of real people got hurt,” Raskin said. “We have a federal administration which operates through intimidation, fear and reprisal and essentially terrified a new bureaucracy under its control into disobeying court orders. That’s a terrible omen.”

Shaw McDermott, a Boston lawyer who chairs the board of the Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority, said CBP decides whom to allow on its premises and the airport officers were not in a position to enforce the court order. The local U.S. Marshals office declined to comment.

“What was going on back there that they didn’t want members of Congress to see?” said Rep. Bobby Scott (D-Va.), who arrived at Dulles later Sunday and was also denied entry.

Connolly, Raskin and Rep. Elijah Cummings, the ranking Democrat on the House Oversight Committee, sent Secretary Kelly a letter requesting records and answers on how the travel ban was implemented. Booker also sent a letter, as did Sens. Dick Durbin and Tammy Duckworth of Illinois.

In court papers Thursday, the Justice Department said no green card holders were deported or forced to withdraw after Brinkema's order. The government lawyers argued her order did not specify physical access rather than phone calls and it would be unsafe to let the lawyers meet travelers in person.

At Friday's hearing, Justice Department lawyer Erez Reuveni said travelers don't have a right to an attorney while they're being screened, and the government would object to any order sending lawyers into that area.

Herring, the Virginia attorney general, and the plaintiffs' lawyers said the government's approach wasn't good enough.

"I don't view it as full compliance, no," said one of the attorneys, Simon Sandoval-Moshenberg of the Legal Aid Justice Center. "I would describe it as taking steps toward compliance."

The government also appeared to be minimizing the Massachusetts court order in the Iranian scientist's lawsuit. In an email submitted in court records, the Justice Department said a court order against detaining or removing people at Logan because of Trump's travel ban did not mean the scientist, Samira Asgari, had to be allowed to board her flight to Boston from Switzerland.

"We do not read the Court's order to require such action," Justice Civil Division attorney Katie Shinnars told Asgari's lawyer on Tuesday afternoon.

The CBP email to airlines that was obtained by POLITICO said the agency would comply with the court order but didn't explain how. The message, sent late last Sunday, said CBP will continue deporting people it deems unauthorized.

"Carriers are reminded that it is unlawful to bring into the United States any alien who does not have a valid passport and an unexpired visa," (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) the CBP Boston watch commander, wrote.

The German airline Lufthansa decided this week to let people from the seven countries affected by Trump's ban board flights to Boston. But on Friday, U.S. District Judge Nathaniel Gorton decided not to renew the temporary restraining order against deporting people.

Josh Gerstein contributed reporting.

All, OCC has issued its own Litigation Hold Notice to all CBP employees with instructions similar to the OIG order. We are required to issue BOTH documents. I have updated the cascade tracker to account for issuance of both.

EVERY employee is required to confirm via email or orally for each: “I acknowledge that I have received, read, and understand the attached Litigation Hold/Preservation Notice.” Please send me yours.

So far I received initial responses only from FP&F and PVD. ALL offices require action and reporting. “N” responses via email should be followed up with verbals to confirm.

Updates for today:

EO Exemption Requests:

- AAPD (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) will handle verbal requests to DFO to 4 PM. Please have the (b)(7)(E) write-ups included to me, (b)(6), (b)(7)(C). Respond to write-ups with confirmation after DFO clearance.
- WC (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) will handle exemption requests from 4 PM.

Daily EO Hotlist

- AAPD (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) (b)(7)(E) issue at COB (for next day); 8 AM update; Noon update for evening.
- Notify managers and Manning when each EO-related referral arrives in secondary. Manning needs to track active secondaries for constant HQ reporting.

Detainee Stores

- WC (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) Assess Logan provisions for detainees to identify order needs (food, water, snacks, diapers, wet wipes, etc.) – understanding that we may be experiencing long-term detentions. MS will provide additional funding for supplies based on this.

NIVs

- Guidance still stands that we will cancel NIVs of those falling under the EO. For any cases that present, please hold that action until we brief the case(s) to the DFO for final concurrence.
- Refugees and Asylees still need to receive exemption above the DFO (as of latest revised guidance).

Messaging

- Continue quick, verbal dialogues with your staffs – all locations. Absence of awareness by employees leads to disgruntlement by employees with managers, and the chance of slip up statements to public/travelers.
- The EO issues are being handled by the Department and HQ. We will continue normal CBP operations. Because of the heightened sensitivities of the issue, maintain vigilance and self-awareness on and off duty.
- Public inquiries are directed to OPA contacts.

Any questions, please let me know. Info/guidance changing rapidly, but we're doing great just focusing on our core mission.

I understand it's all fluid and most out of our control, but if we could at least get an extra body for the door guard and/or baggage control it would show a real sense of support. I'm hearing a fair amount of concerns about an influx of people coming back thru the exit doors.

I had been invited to participate in this meeting before the E.O. and now that the date, time and place have been finalized (it will be in 2 months) I'm sending you the request to forward to APD (b)(6), (b)(7)(C)

As with the last panel in January, all the questions are submitted in advance and they are very good about accepting a "no comment" response on topics we are not allowed to comment on.

In any case, please advise once you've received a response.

Thank you.

In addition to the snacks and juice we bought last week, we need to prepare for prolonged detentions that ERO refuses and we have to house people/families for extended periods especially in light of the current situation with the EO.

Items suchs as

- Meals which require minimal prep – soups and basic pasta/noodles
- Diapers in various sizes
- Baby formula
- Toiletry supplies

These are just some thoughts.

Updates for today:

EO Exemption Requests:

- AAPD (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) will handle verbal requests to DFO to 4 PM. Please have the (b)(7)(E) write-ups included to me, (b)(6), (b)(7)(C). Respond to write-ups with confirmation after DFO clearance.
- WC (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) will handle exemption requests from 4 PM.

Daily EO Hotlist

- AAPD (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) (b)(7)(E) issue at COB (for next day); 8 AM update; Noon update for evening.
- Notify managers and (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) when each EO-related referral arrives in secondary. (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) needs to track active secondaries for constant HQ reporting.

Detainee Stores

- WC (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) Assess Logan provisions for detainees to identify order needs (food, water, snacks, diapers, wet wipes, etc.) – understanding that we may be experiencing long-term detentions. MS will provide additional funding for supplies based on this.

NIVs

- Guidance still stands that we will cancel NIVs of those falling under the EO. For any cases that present, please hold that action until we brief the case(s) to the DFO for final concurrence.
- Refugees and Asylees still need to receive exemption above the DFO (as of latest revised guidance).

Messaging

- Continue quick, verbal dialogues with your staffs – all locations. Absence of awareness by employees leads to disgruntlement by employees with managers, and the chance of slip up statements to public/travelers.
- The EO issues are being handled by the Department and HQ. We will continue normal CBP operations. Because of the heightened sensitivities of the issue, maintain vigilance and self-awareness on and off duty.
- Public inquiries are directed to OPA contacts.

Any questions, please let me know. Info/guidance changing rapidly, but we're doing great just focusing on our core mission.

All,

Attached please find the guidance which we have just received from the White House counsel, Donald F. McGahn.

(b)(5)

Section 3(c) of the Executive Order entitled “Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States” (Jan. 27, 2017) suspends for 90 days the entry into the United States of certain aliens from countries referred to in section 217(a)(12) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA), 8 U.S.C. 1187(a)(12). Section 3(e) of the order directs the Secretary of Homeland Security, in consultation with the Secretary of State, to submit to the President a list of countries recommended for inclusion on a Presidential proclamation that would prohibit the entry of certain foreign nationals from countries that do not provide information needed to adjudicate visas, admissions, or other benefits under the INA.

I understand that there has been reasonable uncertainty about whether those provisions apply to lawful permanent residents of the United States. Accordingly, to remove any confusion, I now clarify that Sections 3(c) and 3(e) do not apply to such individuals. Please immediately convey this interpretive guidance to all individuals responsible for the administration and implementation of the Executive Order.
