

Wikimedia Foundation v. NSA
No. 15-cv-0062-TSE (D. Md.)

Plaintiff's Exhibit 28

Why are we interested in HTTP?

The Facebook logo, consisting of the word "facebook" in white lowercase letters on a blue rectangular background.The Yahoo! logo, featuring the word "YAHOO!" in red uppercase letters with a red exclamation point, set against a white background.The Twitter logo, featuring the word "twitter" in a light blue, lowercase, rounded font.The Myspace logo, featuring a blue square with a white icon of three people, followed by the text "myspace.com" in white and "a place for friends" in smaller white text below it.

Because nearly everything a typical user does on the Internet uses HTTP

The CNN.com logo, featuring the letters "CNN" in a stylized red font with a white outline, followed by ".com" in white on a black background.The Google Earth logo, featuring the word "Google" in its multi-colored font above the word "Earth" in a smaller green font.The @mail.ru logo, featuring a yellow @ symbol followed by "mail.ru" in white on a blue background.The Gmail logo, featuring the word "Gmail" in its multi-colored font, with "by Google" and "Gmail" in smaller text below it.